Army Demonstrates New "Seeing In Dark" Device

AP Military Affairs Writer

FORT STORY, Va. (AP)—Hidden in starless darkness, waves of landing craft with hundreds of troops plowed through the surf toward the Virginia shore.

Then three devices that looked like television sets suddenly flashed into life. And on their screens night became day, and the men and boats could be seen as clearly as at high noon.

This was the Army Transportation Corps' demonstration Thursday night of an experimental device for seeing in the dark. It's called "image intensification."

Key to the system is an electronic tube which intensifies by 100,000 times any illumination—lightning or reflected light from cloud cover.

No detailed explanation was given of the system developed by the Army Engineer Corps.

Thursday night, the transportation corps demonstrated one way that "image intensification" could be used when several hundred troops, tons of equipment and supplies and weapons were landed through the Atlantic Ocean surf.

CLOUDS HIT STARS

An electrical storm had passed through an hour earlier. Thick clouds hid the stars. The flicker of distant lightning gave brief glimpses of ships and landing craft moving shoreward. Then the lightning died away. The scene was enveloped in blackness.

When the first wave of landing craft was almost to the beach, but only the faint phosphorescence of their bow waves showed in the darkness, a command was given to uncover the screens of the three image intensifier sets. Instantly, every detail of the boats in the first, second and third waves—as far out as a half mile or more—was visible on the screens. The image was about the brilliance of a conventional television.

Beach Wins Honors At Gilman School

Adams County appeared prominently in the commencement exercises of the Gilman School, Baltimore, Monday, at which time John Willis Beach, Fairfield, was graduated with honors.

In addition to achieving high scholastic standing which qualified him for acceptance in two large eastern universities, the 17-year-old Adams County youth compiled an outstanding record of extra curricular activities.

He was associate editor of the Gilman News; assistant business manager of the Cynosure yearbook; business manager of the Blue and Gray; held membership on the circus and store committees; and was active in the political club, the Christian association, the military history club and the dramatic association of the school.

Beach will enter the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, in September.

HEAR DR. SMITH

The guest speaker was Dr. S. June Smith of Lancaster, Pa., governor of the North Atlantic region. She said:

"We need to see the changing role of leadership at the community, regional and international level. Service clubs no longer have the single role of helping the needy, especially where government and other agencies already exist to the job well. The new concept of leadership is to have the vision to see what needs to be done in the community and to take an active part in doing it.

"The watchword of leadership is loyalty—we must have followers who cooperate for without them there is no effective leadership," Dr. Smith said.

Miss Marian Olewine, Harrisburg, the western district director, acted as installing officer. In an impressive candlelight ceremony, she installed the officers and new members of four neighboring clubs in addition to those of Gettysburg including Miss Anna S. PLAN TO HOLD SPOOK PARADE

Twelve members attending a meeting of the Gettysburg Association of Clubs Thursday evening at the Moose home voted unanimously to hold a Halloween parade in Gettysburg this year, and set July 19 as the date for the reorganization meeting at the Elks home.

The group also decided to continue the window painting contest and the nondestructive pledge program in the local schools.

There was some discussion on prizes but no decision was reached. The association felt that the biggest problem now is to obtain manpower to direct the parade.

It is hoped that over $1,000 in prizes will be made from fraternal organizations, merchants and others.

Clubs represented at Thursday's meeting included Elks, Moose, Eagles, Legion, VFW, Kiwanis, Exchange, Women's Civic Council, VFW, Moose and Legion Auxiliary and the Optimist Club.

Sergeant Courageously Makes An Adjustment To Discoverer Loaded With 2 Deadly Fuels

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A huge Discoverer rocket stood hissing and fuming on its pad Thursday, the countdown frozen at 30 seconds.

Then two sedans drove into the restricted launch area five men got out and two of them moved in to make a daring but crucial adjustment.

Newsmen watched through binoculars at a safe distance. They saw one of the technicians working with a wrench.

Only the previous day an Atlas missile had blown up on its pad here, and inside the Discoverer's lower stage—on which the men were working—were 47,000 gallons of kerosene and 7,000 gallons of highly volatile liquid oxygen.

ALL GOES WELL

But everything seemed to go well and the repair crew moved out. Discoverer XXIV blasted off into what looked like a perfect shot.

The first-stage Thor rocket did its job but the Agena second stage—instead of orbiting—crashed 1,000 miles at sea.

How did it feel to tinker with a huge and potentially dangerous rocket assembly in the final seconds before launching?

Air Force Sgt. Robert Gillham of Portland, Ore., one of the tinkers, put it this way: "It gives you an eerie feeling. You never know what might happen."

"PERFECTLY SAFE"

"It's just as if you had one foot in a trap, and you're standing there waiting for it to spring shut. Two years ago I probably would not have done it, but after two years of training in safety procedures, I knew I was perfectly safe," he said.

Gillham's companion at the pad was Warren Delezel, who works for Douglas Aircraft, builder of the first-stage Thor.

Officials said failure of the second-stage Agena was still under investigation.

EICHMANN'S MEMOIRS STIR HIS LAWYERS

By THOMAS A. REEDY
JERUSALEM (AP)—Completion of the prosecution case against Adolf Eichmann for crimes against the Jews founded today in an argument over memoirs the defense claimed were obtained under the influence of drink.

Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner sought to introduce the memoirs, obtained from Eichmann in Argentina by a Dutch journalist and former SS man in 1956 and 1957, and ran into a storm of argument.

The court decided the prosecution case must go over until Monday, at least. Originally the state planned to finish today, the defense had been given a full week's recess for planning, and Eichmann himself was to testify Monday, June 19.

"TRUTH IN WINE"

Eichmann's lawyer, Robert Servatius, contended the memoirs were obtained by the interviewer, Wilhelm Sassen, in the company of an Austrian, by plying Eichmann with drinks.

Hausner retorted with the proverb "In vino veritas"—There is truth in wine.

Servatius contended the memoirs were published out of context in an American weekly magazine and were useless without the testimony of the men who obtained the interviews.

The prosecution offered tape recordings, plus some typed and some handwritten copy and also some handwritten corrections and said two experts identified the writing as Eichmann's.

The argument centered around the value of such evidence. Hausner took the position these memoirs in effect substantiated everything Eichmann told Israeli interrogators in a lengthy statement, already in the record, on his activities as head of the Reich security bureau assigned to "the final solution of the Jewish problem."

Eisenhower went to the Army War College at Carlisle Thursday morning to visit with the students and guests participating in the seventh annual National Strategy Seminar in its third day at the Army's senior school. Along with the 100 military and civilian guests he heard an address on "The Cold War" given by the Army's chief of staff, Gen. George H. Decker. Following Gen. Decker's address the guests had lunch at the officers' mess.

The final day of the seminar has Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, as speaker. His topic will be "Military Aspects of National Strategy." The seminar serves as the culmination of the 10-month course of study, during which the students of the college are prepared for future assignments to key staff and command positions within the government.

On Tuesday, Allen W. Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, addressed the seminar.

SEEK $500,000 FOR CHILDREN

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A suit has been filed against a business firm seeking $500,000 on behalf of four minor children whose father, the petition claims, suffocated when trapped in the refrigerator of the meat truck he drove for a living.

The suit was filed Thursday in U. S. District Court here against Walter R. Styer, trading as Styler Refrigerator Body Co. at Salfordville, Pa.

The children's father, George Burgoyne, 45, of Hatfield, was dead in his panel truck on July 28, 1960. Police said the door apparently had slammed shut behind him when he entered to obtain meat for a delivery.

The suit charged that the defendant had converted the carrier into a refrigerated truck. It said he should have known it did not include a latch or other safety devices to prevent "fatal entrapment."

The action was brought by Alvin H. Frankel, of Haddonfield, N. J., appointed guardian for purposes of lodging the suit on behalf of the children: Joseph, 18, Michael, 15, Thomas, 12, and Maureen, 9.

Book Expert Sees Difference In U.S. And Russian Literature

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Libraries and literary experts from Moscow to San Francisco look to a little known college quarterly for the latest news in international literature.

It is "Books Abroad," a survey of the best in current literature ranging from Rumanian poetry to Indian metaphysics and touching all points in between.

"Books Abroad," published by the University of Oklahoma Press, is edited by Vienna-born Wolfgang Bernard Fleischmann, a chunky, chain-smoking Ph.D. with a job as formidable as his name.

His prairie publication has a circulation of about 1,500, scarcely enough to pay the ink bill for most modern news-magazines.

But its subscribers form a cosmopolitan clientele of scholars, librarians and critics. They are a devoted group and somewhat dependent, for "Books Abroad" is the only publication of its kind in the world.

MANY BOOK REVIEWS

To keep them happy, Fleischmann edits 1,200 book reviews a year. They are written by his pool of 500 reviewers who—like the subscribers—are scattered over the western world.

Rarely is there a wide difference of opinion about the style and excellence of a literary work among the battalion of reviewers.

"They may disagree about the theme of a work," says Fleischmann, "but in the West we don't differ very much in estimates of its purely literary value."

"Take Lolita," he says in reference to the best selling novel by Vladimir Nabokov. "There is little argument over the novel's excellence of style and structure, but on its theme there are big differences of opinion."

However, not all is harmony in the world of literature. There is a deep cleavage in outlooks between the West and Iron Curtain countries.

HAS RARE VISTA

From his book lined basement office in an aging building on the Oklahoma campus, Fleischmann has a rare vista of this intellectual corollary to the Cold War.

"Any subject up to Marx coming from East German scholars is treated with common sense and restraint," says Fleischmann. "After that, it's the party line."

"They are quite objective about Goethe and Schiller, but their interpretations of American writers is far wide of the mark. For instance, their first rank of American writers would include Howard Fast, Jack London, the James T. Farrell of Studs Lonigan and Albert Maltz."

Maltz is best known in this country as a screenwriter recently hired to write a movie for Frank Sinatra, then dropped after a public uproar.

Fleischmann makes it clear the primary business of "Books Abroad" is the exchange and evaluation of western ideas and values.

GAP IN LITERATURE

He finds a gap between the themes of literature from the United States and literature from Western Europe.

"The general theme of Continental literature is the alienation of man; the effect of technology, bureaucracy and restrictions of modern life which estrange man from nature."

"This is a step away from the ideas found in the novels of Albert Camus who thought that the attempt by man to accomplish things was significant of itself."

"To the new continental writers it is simply absurd."

Fleischmann sees modern American literature as considerably more complex, but a lot less pessimistic about the plight of man.

"In fact, I don't think there is any real pessimism at all in our literature," he says after a moment's reflection. "And in the so-called 'beat' authors we find outright optimism—a legacy of Walt Whitman.

"The Beats say all you have to do is 'get with it, get hip' and life has significance. This is very optimistic."

SAYS PKU CAN BE STOPPED BY A SIMPLE TEST

By MARY CAMPBELL
The Associated Press

Two little blonde sisters named McGrath—Sheila, 6, and Kammy, 4—are living symbols of heart-break and hope.

Sheila is mentally retarded. Kammy is alert and normal. Yet both girls have the same metabolic disease—phenylketonuria (PKU) which causes retardation, but for which there now is a 10-cent test, and a preventive cure.

Sheila and Kammy will be poster children next November for National Retarded Children's Week.

"PKU is rare, only one in 20,000 babies has it," says Dr. Joseph Wortis, director of the Solomon Retardation Clinic at Brooklyn Jewish Hospital.

RECOMMEND TEST

"But it's very easy to detect and I recommend that the test be done."

A lactose-free synthetic diet, given from the first month to a baby who tests PKU positive, will prevent retardation.

Sheila McGrath was diagnosed as having PKU when she was a year old, but the new diet didn't become available until she was 18 months. By that time, she could not see, sit or walk. After two weeks on the diet she could sit up and see. She soon began walking. But the diet could not offset the damage that had already occurred to her brain.

Now Sheila lives in a Colorado state training school and visits her family on weekends. Sheila's IQ is under 50. She can be trained in self-care but not educated.

Her sister Kammy lives at home in Denver with three other sisters, 10, 9 and 1. Her mother is an ex-airline stewardess and her father an electrical engineer. Kammy attends nursery school. She has been on the synthetic diet since she tested positive for PKU shortly after birth.

CHANCES ARE RARE

Though chances of having a baby with PKU are rare, the National Assn. for Retarded Children says the chance of a family producing a second PKU child is one in four. In Kansas and several other states, the retarded in institutions are being tested. Whenever a PKU victim is found, the other children in the family, especially infants, are tested.

The baby must be three weeks old for the test to be effective. The test consists of a chemically coated test strip, which costs about 10 cents, placed in contact with the baby's wet diaper.

Dr. Wortis says most pediatricians aren't giving the test because PKU is so rare, but they will give it, he says, if parents ask for it. Child health clinics in California, Missouri, Washington and New York City are giving the test to all babies brought in.

FIRST BREAKTHROUGH

The PKU test was the first breakthrough in the prevention of retardation resulting from "inborn causes of metabolism." Dr. Wortis says galactosuria, in which one of the sugars in milk can't be used by the child's body, also can be discovered by a simple test and prevented by a special diet.

The doctor says galactosuria, however, is even more rare than PKU.

But retardation—which also can be caused by disorders during pregnancy, at birth or during

FORMS RESCUE UNIT TO WORK IN MOUNTAINS

By DON SPIRE

DETROIT, Ore. (AP)—The number 7-11 can work almost magic over a rugged 1,000 square miles of central Cascade Mountain wilderness.

Dialing on the telephone, it can bring aid to the sick and injured and, thanks to an outburst of community spirit and cooperation, it can also send an ambulance on a mercy mission through the wilds.

Detroit is a tiny town (pop. 206) in the Santiam Pass of the Cascades but it is the metropolis of the wilderness and headquarters for some 5,000 vacationers at the summer peak.

It has no drug store; no nurse. The nearest doctor is 20 miles away; the nearest hospital is 37 miles. Until last year, there was no one to turn to in case of sickness or accident.

This is what Detroit did about it:

WERE INCORPORATED

First, the men of the town started first aid classes, directed by the Red Cross and the Oregon Industrial Accident Commission.

Then, incorporated under the name Detroit Mobile First Aid Unit, they began a search for an ambulance.

The problem was that they had only $800 in the bank account and the few second hand ambulances available for that sum were not up to the job of traversing mountain roads.

Just when spirits were lowest, word was received that the Volkswagen dealers of Oregon were planning to award a credit for one half the cost of an ambulance to a town or public organization on the basis of need.

The Detroit Mobile First Aid Unit sprang into action.

Every logging company, for example, game warden—even the highway department—in the area was asked to write a letter detailing the need for an ambulance.

NARROWED TO THREE

A month later, the list of those still under consideration for the award was narrowed to three, the fire departments of Cascade Locks and Nehalem—and the Detroit Mobile First Aid Unit.

Now the group really went to work.

A blizzard of letters, documents and notes of support poured in on the award committee. Just about every organization, official and individual in the Detroit area childhood—is not rare. It is four times as common as rheumatic heart, nine times more prevalent than cerebral palsy, affects 15 times more people than blindness.

Researchers are working to find more of the causes and preventions of retardation. The Kammy McGraths they an save makes it vitally important.

TABLE CLEANUP—Gigi, a young Toy French Poodle, is given a lesson in cleanliness by Miss Blue after their common lunch at home of Max Richards, Louisville, Ky.

Finds Houses On Wheels Are Profitable Business

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
The Associated Press

Wealthy Mrs. Robert White, who has a fashionable Atherton, Calif., address and a private plane, was an "utter snob about houses on wheels."

Her pert little nose went up at the very thought of trailer camps — "dirty, ill-kept acreages of chicken wire, oil barrels, community bath shacks and decaying cars."

Then last Christmas Robert died in a plane crash and Dorothy White found herself in the throes of her husband's new business venture providing snob appeal to mobile homes. With a brother-in-law Theodore White, she is building a nationwide chain of lavish mobile home country clubs.

The first which opened recently in San Jose, Calif., has all the things anyone expects to find at a country club; luxurious clubhouse, swimming pool, facilities for every sport from golf to shuffleboard, and at least five or six millionaires.

HAIR AND CLOTHES

It also has some things country clubs don't have. For example, an automatic laundry house is equipped with shampoo bowls and hairdryers, TV and bridge tables so that women don't need to waste time between "wash" and "tumble dry."

Car washes, supermarket, beauty parlor, barber shop, restaurant and dry cleaners are tucked in here and there among the rolling hills. Now, at the urging of their club members, a gymnasium with steam room and reducing equipment is going up.

The country club lacks children. Dorothy's other mobile clubs, however, will have them, along with swimming instructors, baby sitters and specific recreational areas.

KIDS AND KIDLESS

"We find that families with and without children don't mix," says Dorothy, whose task as vice president of the company is to coordinate the things that do.

To know where she speaks, the mother and her four lads, ages five to 16, switched for the summer from their earthbound home to a $15,000 movable one. She was not exactly roughing it though, with fully automatic kitchen, glass sliding doors, patio, plantation shutters, filigree room dividers and star-burst chandeliers.

But she says it is typical of the kind that parks at the California contributed something.

Santiam Pass got its ambulance. The Detroit Mobile First Aid Unit now has 16 graduates of advanced first aid classes and 16 others who have finished their basic course.

And officials of the group are talking about joining an area search and rescue unit.

Country Club. For mobile home residents today are not the penniless, restless, rootless nomads Dorothy had so rashly assumed.

NO FENCES

In surveying the families parked on her green, she learned their average income was about $14,000 (hiked considerably by the millionaire's yearly stipends). Average age is 55 years old. A third of the group is retired.

A fifth of the community consists of single people who like the companionship. "They never have to have dates to be included at dances and parties," says Dorothy.

The homes are too large to be hitched to an auto, but tow trucks can carry them from coast to coast for a maximum $500. Yet mobile home owners' moving experience averages only slightly more than grounded families.

Then why wheels? Dorothy thinks it's a psychological "don't-fence-me-in" sort of thing. "They feel better just knowing they can always go if they want to."

Still if and when and wherever they go, Dorothy says her company will soon have a country club waiting there too.

Five Properties Are Transferred

Mr. and Mrs. Howell Baldwin, Gettysburg, sold a property on Johns Ave. for $16,000 to Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur M. Allison and Mr. and Mrs. James H. Allison, all of Gettysburg.

Muriel Kuhn, Biglerville, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bream, Gardners, R. 2, sold two properties in Huntingdon Twp. for $4,500 to Mr. and Mrs. Melvin L. Miller, Menallen Twp.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis J. Hocken-smith, Conewago Twp., sold a property in that township for $21,200 to Mr. and Mrs. Albert O. Shultz, Gettysburg R. 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice E. Pitzer, Aspers R. 1, sold a property in Menallen Twp. for $675 to Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Osborn, Aspers R. 1.

HOLD BARNES RITES

Funeral services for Franklin S. Barnes, 67, who died Tuesday at the Warner Hospital, were held Thursday at 2 p.m. in the EUB Church, Taneytown with Rev. Arthur Garvin officiating. Interment was in the church cemetery. Pallbearers were Jack Scott, Arthur Garvin Jr., Earl Bowers, Chester Cartzen-datner, Frank Dunham and John Speak, C. A. Fuss and Son were the funeral directors.

JAILED THURSDAY

George Thomas, 58, Earlington, Pa., was arrested by Little-town borough police Thursday evening on a drunk and disorderly charge and lodged in the Adams County jail for a hearing later before Justice of the Peace Roscoe Rittase.

major on 100 students in the Biglerville High School and 250 in the Gettysburg High School. This county survey of high school pupils may have been the only one of its kind in the nation.

Dr. Samuel Mudd, who was the speaker for the meeting, presented copies of the survey and the results which will be reported to state and national offices. He said, "It is interesting to note that according to the survey, females in the rural sections of the county comprised those most interested in pursuing mental health careers. Of the females without brother or sister 40 per cent were interested and 52 per cent of those with two or more brothers or sisters indicated interest."

LIST NEW MEMBERS

Mrs. Buehler, membership chairman, reported the following new members: Mrs. Ira M. Henderson, George Inskip and the Rev. James Leshner, all of Fairfield; and Mrs. Robert A. Codori, Mrs. Fred G. Pfeffer and George J. Boyd, Gettysburg. The roll has been increased from 15 to 52 and an effort will be made to increase it to 100 before the year ends on August 31. The $1 membership fee may be sent to Mrs. Buehler, Mrs. Howard Hartzell, the Rev. Otto Kroeger, Fairfield, or C. P. Keeter, New Oxford.

A vote of appreciation was given to Dr. Reaser and Mrs. Donald White, the retiring president and secretary-treasurer.

The next meeting will be held September 21.

The New York Rangers played their first hockey game on November 17, 1926, defeating the Montreal Maroons 1-0.

BLAMES TV FOR DELINQUENCY

WASHINGTON (AP) — James V. Bennett, director of the Bureau of Prisons, said today he thinks there is a definite causal relationship between juvenile delinquency and television shows dealing with crime and violence.

At a hearing by the Senate Judiciary subcommittee on juvenile delinquency, Bennett likened television to "the old-fashioned street corner pitchman who attracted and entertained his audience with card tricks and magic while he sold them snake-oil remedies."

In his prepared statement, Bennett added "modern television attracts its audience with crime and violence while they sell soap and deodorants." But in delivery, he merely said "modern television has a parallel (to the pitchman)."

Bennett complained that some television programs depict law enforcement officers as "gauche, stupid and in fact venal at times." He said this hinders the recruitment of officers and damages the morale of those already in service.

There is strong evidence, Bennett said, that "exposure to the viewing of crime, mayhem and conflict as a means of entertainment has a deleterious emotional impact on youth and creates the risk of triggering delinquent behavior."

BURGLAR IS TRAPPED

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A burglar who has been plaguing households in suburban Abington for three years was killed today when he broke into a home where a police ambush had been set up for seven weeks. Police Capt. Frank Jackson identified him as Robert Warner, 35, of Willow Grove, and said he had committed at least 30 burglaries.

HURRICANE SEASON NEARS

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—An easterly wave developed in the Caribbean today, a reminder that the 1961 hurricane season opens officially in six days.

The Miami Weather Bureau said this wave is not expected to produce more than showers. However, these so-called waves—actually areas of bad weather—sometimes are the first sign that a hurricane is forming.

Though hurricanes are infrequent this early in the year, they have been known to form well before the official start of the season on June 15. Air Force and Navy reconnaissance crews go on the alert June 1 and are ready to check suspicious areas at a moment's notice. The season ends in November.

FLORIDA IS READY

Florida, with last September's vicious Hurricane Donna still a vivid memory, is well-prepared for this year's storm season. Red Cross and Civil Defense units already have shelters designated.

Until Donna's visit, home owners had gone for nearly a decade without experiencing the awesome power of the mighty winds of a hurricane.

The first tropical storm of the season—if and when it forms—will be called Anna.

MAN'S BODY FOUND

HARRISBURG (AP)—The body of Wayne H. Jenkins, 52, of Dillsburg, was found today along Pennsylvania Railroad tracks at nearby Mechanicsburg.

Coroner Edward A. Haegle said Jenkins apparently was struck by a train as he walked along the tracks.

Court Okays Incorporation Of Youth Groups: The Adams county court this morning approved the incorporation of the Abbottstown Youth Recreation Association as a nonprofit corporation established to construct a "recreation center and/or playground" for the young people of Abbottstown and to "conduct such projects as will contribute to and further the moral and physical welfare of the boys and girls of Abbottstown and vicinity."

Named as incorporators were C. Merel Sanders, G. David Hoke, R. E. Hoke, Earl Alwine, J. Faber Wildasin, George G. Hollinger Jr., M. C. H. Wolf, A. D. Leib and Norman H. Miller.
The court appointed Attorney Edgar K. Markley as master in the divorce action of Charles L. Markley versus Evelyn G. (Myers) Markley.

Many Witness U. S. W. V. Parade Here On Sunday: Nearly 100 veterans of the Spanish-American war took part Sunday afternoon in the annual parade held in connection with the 42nd annual convention of the Pennsylvania Department of the Spanish-American War veterans here.

Accompanied by more youthful companions in other organizations, the men who fought with Dewey and "Teddy" Roosevelt in the war against Spain marched from Meade school east on Chambersburg street to the square, out Baltimore street to Middle street, east on Middle to Stratton to York and still were full of enthusiasm when they completed their march at the Hotel Gettysburg convention headquarters.

County Youth Misses Plane: Escapes Death: Sgt. Dale Eugene Clark, 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Clark, New Oxford, escaped death in a plane crash in the Canal Zone Sunday because he missed the plane at West Palm Beach, Fla.

Clark, a son-in-law of Mrs. Frances Orner, Bendersville, visited Mrs. Orner last week. He had flown to Washington from the Canal Zone to take a plane back to Albright Field. The plane was condemned and Clark was given a few days leave. While here he was ordered (last Friday) to report to West Palm Beach to be a member of the crew of the ship that eventually crashed Sunday. For some unknown reason he missed the plane.

Anna Weikert, John Newcomer Wed Saturday: Miss Anna Gertrude Weikert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Weikert, Gettysburg R. 2, and Joseph Leister Newcomer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Newcomer, Hagerstown R. 5, were united in marriage Saturday evening at 7 o'clock in Zion Lutheran Church, Fairfield, by the Rev. Dr. Norman Wolf, pastor of the bride. The double-ring ceremony was performed in the presence of relatives and friends.

Closing Seven Rural Schools For Next Year: At least seven "little red schoolhouses" in rural Adams county have closed their doors for at least a year and probably forever as township school boards double up public assignments in remaining schools to avoid financial penalties provided in new state school laws aimed at reducing low-enrollment schools.

Straban, Cumberland and Hamilton townships are closing a total of seven one-room schools to bring average enrollment in their remaining schools up to the state-required average of 30 pupils.

Pupils in the areas of the closed schools will be transported to remaining schools in the same townships in most instances.

Today's Talk

CHOOSE A BETTER WAY
I have noticed that when the driver of a car gets stuck in the mud, somewhere out in the country, the first thing he does is to look around to see just how he can figure a way out.
He doesn't decide to stay in the mud. That never seems to occur to him.

So he gets out—some way. Then he is more cautious next time. He keeps in the back of his head the idea of a better way. He has learned his lesson.

And the wise driver inquires his way in advance. He wants to know that he is going to make progress. Life is full also of muddy, worn roads. And the strange thing about many people is that they seem to prefer to keep on traveling along them. None of us can ever travel a beautifully paved road all the time. But if we pick out the best road we know and keep our eyes open for the bad ones, then when we do meet up with torn patches we can smile, take heart—and drive right through them!

Few things in this world are wholly bad or wholly good. It is the average—the very highest possible average—that counts. Always keep choosing a better way.

And don't let the fact that you have traveled a long time on a bad highway, or in an indifferent manner, discourage you. Decide at once to go further than you have ever gone before. Set a better pace.

Keep wanting a cleansed mind. Hope for a happy heart. Have an inward reverence for the body which carries that mind and heart of yours.

Look up—and work forward.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "On Complaining"

RAINY DAY CLOTHES
Behind the rainy day there lies Blossoms and birds and sunny skies;
The clouds are but a mantle gray
Designed for just a rainy day;
And as with men who sometimes wear
Harsh raiment for their hours of care,
And yet beneath each uniform
The kindly hearts continue warm.
So life is fair, despite the gray
And sombre garment of the day.

We do not ask our friends to be Always attired in finery;
We find them garbed to fill the soil
In raiment thick with dirt and oil
And sorry sights to look upon,
And yet our love continues on.
We do not look on them in hate
Because their robes are out of date,
And torn and shabby, for we know
The hearts beneath with friendship glow.

So, when there comes a rainy day
And all above is robed in gray
Why should we turn away and sigh
And fear to look upon the sky?
Life still is fair! The birds and bees,
The blossoms and the leafy trees
Are ours to know, and we shall smile
With them through many an after-while.
Friendly the day shall still remain
Though dressed in gray to suit the rain.

SAY NETWORKS DON'T END TV SHOWS ON KEY

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV—Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—In the uncertain world of television, it is the usual practice to wind up a series merely by stopping—no last gathering up of loose ends, no farewell scenes. Often this is a bit mystifying to the viewer because it is also network practice never to announce the demise of one series, but merely to herald the birth of a new one.

This system is handy because sometimes a discarded series suddenly pops back onto the screen again. This season, for instance, two did just that—"Happy" and "One Happy Family"—and they were able to pick up where they had suddenly left off with no trouble at all.

CUTTING FOR FINAL

Producers of ABC's "Guestward Ho," however, are cutting all their plot—and life-lines with the final program of the season (except, of course, for the inevitable re-runs). In the June 22 show, the young married city couple give up trying to run a dude ranch, the situation which was supposed to produce the laughs. Saddled by debt, they return to New York where our hero has a job waiting in an advertising agency.

Obviously "Guestward Ho" can never come back now. Nobody ever writes TV situation comedy series about Madison Avenue. That is a subject for variety show sketches.

WILL PLAY HAZEL

Don DeFore, who used to play the next-door-neighbor on "Ozzie and Harriet," will become the head of the family in Shirley Booth's situation comedy series next season. The star plays the title role of "Hazel," a resourceful maid-of-all-work.

Recommended tonight: "The Lawless Years," NBC, 9-9:30 (Eastern Daylight time)—second party of "Louie K." dramatized documentary about the making of a criminal.

HAGGE HAS LEAD IN ROBIN PLAY

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP)—Marlene Bauer Hagge, a veteran of the tournament tour, started the second round of the five-round Women's Round-Robin Golf Tournament today with a whopping plus 26 points and a 13-point lead on her nearest rival.

The younger of the golfing Bauer sisters blazed around the rocky hilly Wykagyl Country Club course with its par of 37-35-72 and its 6,293 yards in 37-32-69, two strokes better than the fine 37-34-71 registered by Kathy Cornelius, who was in second place with plus 13 points.

The round robin calls for each of the 16 players to meet each of the other players once during the five rounds, matching medal scores with the respective opponents. For instance, if a player finishes a round with a 70 and another member of the foursome has a 75, the 70 shooter gets plus five points and the 75 shooter minus five.

Mickey Wright had a 75 and wound up with plus eight, and Mary Lena Faulk, although having a 74, one under Mickey, had only a plus four for her efforts as a result of playing in a foursome where all scores were comparatively close.

Tigers Check Indians' Win Skein At 10; Orioles Give Twins 1st Win In 14 Games

By ED WILKS

The Cleveland Indians clung to a half-game lead in the American League race by splitting a pair of one-run decisions with second place Detroit Thursday night.

The Tribe, winning 10 in a row for the first time since 1954, won the opener 1-0, but the Tigers took a protested, 2-1 victory in the nightcap as Frank Lary became the first pitcher to win nine in the majors this season.

Third place New York split with Kansas City, winning 6-1 before the A's broke out for a 9-6 victory in the second game, The Minnesota Twins, after losing 13 in a row, fled the cellar with a 3-1 victory at Baltimore, Boston defeated Los Angeles 6-5 in the opener of a two-night pair, but the second game was called by rain and ended in a 4-4, 11-inning tie. The Chicago-Washington game was rained out.

MOSSI LOSES FIRST

First-inning doubles by Johnny Temple and Vic Power gave Cleveland its run in the opener and handed six-game winner Don Mossi his first defeat. The Tigers out-hit the Indians 10-7, but lost their third in a row as Frank Funk nailed the victory for Jim Perry (4-4) with two innings of one-hit relief.

Detroit broke through for its first score in 15 innings when Norm Cash homered off loser Wynn Hawkins (5-3) in the second game of the nightcap. Lary singled and scored the deciding run on Charlie Maxwell's bases-loaded grounder in the fifth. Lary (9-3) struck out eight and didn't walk a man.

The Cleveland protest came in the eighth. While Detroit Manager Bob Scheffing was arguing that Cleveland's Bob Hale should have been called out at first base, the Tigers caught Hale off base. The Indians protested on grounds that time was out while Scheffing was on the field.

HAD 4 RBI'S

Bill Skowron drove in four runs for the Yankees in the first game, two with an eighth-inning homer that gave New York 32 home runs, an AL record, for 17 consecutive games. Rookie Bill Stafford (3-2) won with a five-hitter against the A's and Norm Bass (4-3). Southpaw rookie Jim Archer (3-1) then ended the home run string and cut the Yankees' winning streak at six in the nightcap. The A's beat Danny McDevitt (1-2), coming from behind in a five-run third on a double by Hank Bauer and three consecutive triples, by Lee Posada, Norm Siebern and Joe Pignatano.

A two-run homer by Billy Martin in the third inning off Jack Fisher (2-7) gave the Twins their second victory in the last 20 games. Jim Kaat (2-5) won it when reliever Chuck Stobbs retired Jim Busby with the bases loaded in the ninth.

Boston beat the Angels and reliever Ryne Duren (1-6) with a pair of unearned runs on Gene Lee's error and Vic Wertheimer in the seventh inning. Ted Wills (2-2) won it with four innings of three-hit, shutout relief.

TRACK MARKS MAY BE UPSET

HOUSTON (AP)—The Meet of Champions — a track meet with stars aplenty — puts several national and world records in danger today.

The long entry list includes five performers who have world records either in their pockets or pending certification. There are an even dozen Olympians from three countries and five collegiate champs entered.

The chances of breaking a world record are strong — especially in the pole vault where Don Bragg, the current champ, meets his heir apparent, George Davies, in their first showdown.

Bragg has his vault of 15 feet 9½ inches in the book now. Davies, a sophomore at Oklahoma State, has a vault of 15 feet 10½ inches pending.

Ralph Boston, the Tennessee State lad with a broad jump record of 27 feet 11-3 inch pending;

TO PUSH MOORE BACKWARDS IN TITLE FIGHT

By MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Giulio Rinaldi knows what he has to do to beat Archie Moore in their light-heavyweight title fight at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

After all he did get the verdict over a plumpish Moore in a non-title ten in Rome last Oct. 29 and he has carefully scrutinized films of Archie's losing heavyweight title fights with Rocky Marciano and Floyd Patterson.

"Marciano and Patterson pressed him," said the Italian. "They knocked him out. Move Moore back and his legs get tired. I guess that has been his trouble for a long time."

USES AN INTERPRETER

Okay, Giulio knows the answer. But can he do it?

"I think I can," he said via an interpreter. "Maybe it will take me seven or eight rounds but I think I can stop him."

But the big question won't be answered by Giulio. It's all up to Archie. If old age doesn't catch up to him in one swoop—like it very well could—he's apt to blast the strong but light-powered Italian out of action in three rounds.

"I feel great," said Moore as he prepared to break camp today at Monticello, N. Y. "I feel better now than I have in a long time. All I can say is that I wish that Rinaldi makes good on his promise to go after me. Then it will be mighty interesting."

LIVELY BUSINESS

Rinaldi, with only eight knockouts in 30 fights (25-5), doesn't compare with Archie in punching. Moore has knocked out 130 opponents (in 212 fights) for a world record.

Garden officials report lively business at the box office and expect a crowd of 10,000 to contribute to a $50,000 date despite local and national television (ABC TV 9 p.m., Eastern Standard Time). The TV fee is $150,000. Archie has been guaranteed $100,000 plus $12,000 expenses. Rinaldi will collect $25,000 plus expenses plus the shot at the title.

TIGHT RACE IN NATIONAL LOOP WAS FORECAST

LOS ANGELES (AP)—When you look at the National League standings today, don't forget Danny Murtaugh told you so.

He's one of the guys who predicted last spring there'd be a six-club race in the National League this season.

Now he's beginning to relish one of his few public forecasts.

Murtaugh was sitting in his dugout when his prediction occurred to him.

"A lotta people thought I was crazy," he said, "but I've been saying all along I thought there'd be six clubs in this thing. And I still think it's going to be a helluva race."

BOUNCED DODGERS

Murtaugh looked even more like a prophet Thursday night, when his Pirates knocked the Los Angeles Dodgers out of first place by beating them 4-2 on two-run homers by Bob Skinner and Bill Mazeroski.

"The only reason I counted even two clubs out," Murtaugh said later, "was that I figured the Cubs and the Phillies were in the middle of a rebuilding program."

"Actually, you can't count anybody out because all those players with the Cubs or Phillies might just decide to have a good year all at once."

MANAGERS AND UMPIRES FIGHT FOR 1ST PLACE

By DAVE DILES
Associated Press Sports Writer
DETROIT (AP)—The Cleveland Indians and the Detroit Tigers are fighting for first place in the American League and they have the umpires in the middle of the squabble.

Managers Jimmie Dykes of the Indians and Bob Scheffing of the Tigers were storming at the men in blue in Thursday night's doubleheader at Tiger Stadium, and for Dykes' part, the battle is not over.

"I doubt if I'll win the protest," Dykes admitted, "but I never had a more legitimate squawk in my life."

The baseball games, two of the tightest battles in the race so far, were divided. Cleveland took the opener 1-0, while Detroit won the nightcap 2-1. The Tiger victory snapped Cleveland's 10-game winning streak.

But most of the excitement came in the eighth inning of the nightcap, and it kept 48,550 fans howling for 15 minutes.

The Indians trailed 2-1 and Woody Held led off with a single. Bubba Phillips struck out and Bob Hale was sent to pinch hit for Frank Funk, who was working in relief in the second game.

Hale sent a bouncer to second baseman Jake Wood, whose throw to shortstop Chico Fernandez forced Johnny Temple.

DIDN'T CALL TIME

When umpire Larry Napp called Hale safe at first on Fernandez' relay, the stadium rocked with jeers. Detroit players rushed at Napp and Manager Scheffing bolted from the dugout. While the argument was going on, Hale lit out for second base. Catcher Mike Roark tagged him, Napp ruled that Hale was out.

Scheffing deftly moved back to the Detroit dugout as Dykes leaped out of the Cleveland dugout.

Dykes' argument was that no play could be made since Scheffing and his coaches were on the playing field. Napp argued that time had not been called. Scheffing did not need to argue any more. The argument raged on for 15 minutes while Dykes, his coaches and players belted at first one umpire than another.

The two clubs resume their battle tonight at the same arena.

six-hit, 2-1 victory, striking out eight and walking none.

Hitting — Gene Freese, Reds, drove in four runs, three with winning home run in 10-8 victory over Braves that regained first place for Reds.

Princeton won the 1960 Ivy League lacrosse championship for the fourth straight season.

PRO LEAGUE'S SIGNING MANY BONUS YOUTHS

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball's bird dogs — the big league scouts — are busier than a last place team's bullpen chasing around high schools and signing almost any athletes who graduates, it seems.

The frantic search for talent is even wilder than usual this summer because of the majors' expansion program which will be accelerated next year with the addition of the National League clubs.

The huge sums offered to untold teen-agers almost certainly will reach record heights, easily surpassing the reported $7.5 million spent on bonuses last year. Two clubs already have shelled out more than $100,000 for a single prospect. Two others reportedly have gone as high as $200,000 in an effort to land an 18-year-old high school boy.

MILLION DOLLARS

This week alone nearly a million dollars was handed out.

The Kansas City Athletics announced Thursday they had given what they proudly said was a "cash record" of $125,000 to Chester, Pa., high school pitcher Lew Krause, 18. He was recommended by his father, a former pitcher and now a scout for the Athletics.

Just two weeks ago, the New York Yankees said they had given more than $100,000 to Jake Gibbs, Mississippi's All-America quarterback and star third baseman.

TOP SHORTSTOP

Milwaukee and Pittsburgh are said to be ready to spend $200,000 for Bob Bailey, 18, a shortstop at Wilson High in Long Beach, Calif. He will become eligible for a bonus when he graduates June 15.

The Braves supposedly beat 17 other clubs to the door of Arnold Umbach, 18, a pitcher at Baylor Prep. A fat $80,000 bonus served as the pass-word.

The St. Louis Cardinals, who recently corralled Kerry McDaniell, a younger brother of Lindy and Von, for $50,000, divided $100,000 between Dave Fritz, 20, University of Minnesota outfielder and Craig Seegmiller, a Provo, Utah, high school shortstop.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Thomas F. (Tommy) Devlin, 52, a basketball referee for more than 30 years, died Thursday in a hospital after a short illness.

Devlin retired from officiating in 1948 after working high school, college and professional games in the old Eastern League.

Surviving are his widow, Madeleine, and a son, Thomas Jr.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday.

Twins Happy At Ending Streak

BALTIMORE (AP)—It was like a World Series victory in June.

As soon as center fielder Bill Tuttle caught a fly ball for the final out, Minnesota infielders rushed to shake pitcher Chuck Stobbs' hand. Others poured from the dugout to join in the backslapping.

Shortstop Zorro Versalles tossed his glove into the air and headed into a happy dressing room — for a change.

Tuttle's catch Thursday night not only ended a bases-loaded threat by the Baltimore Orioles. It preserved a 3-1 Minnesota victory and ended a 13-game losing streak by the Twins.

REDS PROTEST MEETINGS HELD IN W. BERLIN

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD
BERLIN (AP)—The Soviet Union has protested formally to the Western Big Three that West Germany is organizing "international provocations and endangering peace" by holding meetings of the West German Parliament in West Berlin.

Allied officials here shrugged off the Soviet charges as part of a continuous Soviet propaganda war against Berlin's ties with the West.

Only last weekend Premier Khrushchev told President Kennedy in Vienna that West Berlin is a bone that must come out of the Soviet throat. The President replied the West had a right to be in Berlin and intended to stay there.

NOTES MADE PUBLIC

The latest Soviet complaint was in notes handed the American, French and British embassies in Moscow. It was made public by the Soviet Tass news agency.

Moscow radio, in a companion broadcast, charged West Germany, with the support of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, was trying to undermine the results of the Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting.

The Soviet foreign ministry statement protested meetings now being held in West Berlin by committees of the West German Bundestag, the lower house of Parliament, and also dormant parties to hold a symbolic Bundestag session in the Allied-occupied half of the Communist-surrounded city.

WILL VISIT BERLIN

Bonn announced Thursday night that West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will visit Berlin next month. The official East German news agency ADN described this as "the high point of this year's Bonn provocations in West Berlin" and indicated the Communists would kick up another fuss.

Moscow warned, "The Soviet government could not be indifferent to new international provocations prepared by the Federal German Republic (West Germany) in West Berlin which has never been part of the federal republic."

The Allied position is that although the Western sectors of Berlin are still technically occupied territory, they are dependent on West Germany for financial support and administrative measures.

Boat drownings ranked 9th during 1958 among the principal causes of accidental deaths.

MRS. KENNEDY GOES TO GREECE

LONDON (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy left London by commercial airliner today for a vacation in Greece.

The American President's wife was accompanied by her brother-in-law and sister, Prince and Princess Stanislas Radziwill, who make their home in London and with whom the Kennedys stayed after their visits to Paris and Vienna.

Two U.S. Secret Service men completed the party.

Mrs. Kennedy arrived in a six-car motorcade and was driven on to the runway and to the plane. U.S. Ambassador David K. E. Bruce saw her off.

Mrs. Kennedy will stay in Greece until June 15, on a private unofficial visit as guest of Premier Constantine Caramanlis and his wife.

For four days she will cruise to some of the Greek islands aboard the North Wind, the 125-foot yacht of shipowner Marcos Nomikos. When ashore, the First Lady will reside at Nomikos' villa at Avour, a seaside resort 15 miles southeast of Athens.

Mrs. Wheeler pleaded innocent to 117 counts.

BUZHARDT WINS WITH SOME RUNS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Johnny Buzhardt has proven he can be a winning pitcher when the Philadelphia Phillies get him some runs.

And the Phillies have shaken the jinx that had Sam Jones of the San Francisco Giants has held over them.

When Buzhardt dropped his first five games in a row this year, the Phillies were able to provide him with just one run over the stretch.

In the last two, including Thursday night's 5-2 victory over the Giants, the Phillies have provided the right-hander with 11 runs and he's won both games.

Thursday night he pitched a four-hitter, giving up homers to Willie Mays and Willow McCovey. But the Phillies chased Jones, who had beat them eight straight since 1959, in the first inning in a three-run outburst featured by doubles by Frank Herrera and Don Demeter and a single by Bobby Del Greco. The Phillies added another in the second and Ken Walters tripled home the final tally in the seventh.

Del Greco, who had a perfect day with three hits, boosted his average to .348.

BONN, Germany (AP) — German beer drinkers, who for centuries have proudly regarded themselves as the world's greatest, got a shock today.

The country's brewers announced the Belgians and Luxembourgers down an average of five gallons more than the 25 gallons a year the German averages.

Coach Paul Brown of the Cleveland Browns weighed only 134 pounds when he played quarterback for Massillon, Ohio, High.

READY TO SHIP 500 TRACTORS FOR PRISONERS

By ED HARDY

DETROIT (AP)—The Tractors for Freedom Committee is ready to send Fidel Castro the 500 tractors he asks in exchange for 1,200 invasion prisoners as well as a team of experts to negotiate the deal. The next move is up to him. The committee cabled the Cuban prime minister Thursday night that "we are prepared to move with dispatch and ship the first consignment of 100 tractors not later than two weeks from today, to be followed by additional consignments of tractors in lots of 100 until the total of 500 are delivered."

It cautioned Castro, however, that "we trust you are equally prepared to move with dispatch to release the prisoners. We remind you of our insistence that you make available to us without further delay a complete list of the 1,214 prisoners involved so that we can develop satisfactory procedures for verifying the identity of those released."

ASK RED CROSS AID

"We would recommend that the International Red Cross be asked to handle the details relating to the release of the prisoners."

The proposed trade, which has been controversial, got more criticism meanwhile.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., scored the proposed exchange as "blackmail."

Goldwater, appearing on the Jack Paar television show (NBC) Thursday night, said "a government has to be dealt with by a government—not by a group of citizens, however well-intentioned."

The committee, formed after Castro made his trade offer May 17, said it would not send one of its more prominent members to day in the Fish and Game clubhouse, near town. Lawrence T. Crouse, Nevaeh A. Crouse and Robert L. Crouse Jr. comprise the refreshment committee.

IRISHMAN TO SELL PUBLIC ON KNICKERS

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP)—A ruddy Irishman who lives and works in a drafty Dublin castle is visiting here briefly to declare a fashion pants war on American culottes.

The invader's weapons are knickerbockers — boyish, handloomed tweed knickers that already cling to the shapely legs of many unboylike lasses on the Emerald Isle.

Donald Davies with sandy hair and pale blue eyes is the same Gaelic designer who put boys' long-tailed shirts on women and therefore had sack dresses at least six months before a Frenchman named Dior.

Needless to say, the tall, ramrod straight man does not get his design inspirations from his beautiful size nine wife, Mary, nor his young daughter, Lucy, a professional model, nor any woman.

For their sportswear styles Irish lasses must keep their eyes on the wearing apparel of Davies' 13-year-old son, Richard.

OFF HIS BACK

Five years ago Davies made his first trip to New York quietly, like, and pants ought very well and much more peaceably, with be pants."

armloads of his native tweeds for department store executives to examine.

The buyers liked his colorful fabrics, but they wished he would fashion them into an unusual type of ladies' shirt. One buyer spotted the shirt on little Richard's back. "Make us some like that," he said.

Thus the Irish Paddy grew in feminine popularity on both sides of the Atlantic. The shirt also grew in length until it became a dress—a chemise one that could be worn belted.

SACK DEAD

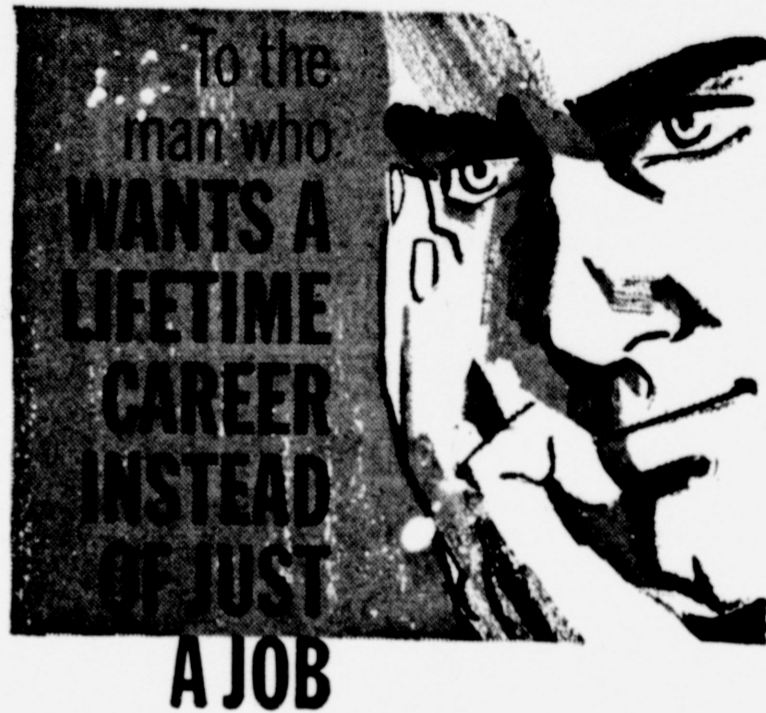

Davis' sack shirt was a classic in his line until its likeness appeared in Paris, was damned by men, and finally buried with all the rest of them.

Searching for other ways of sewing up his gossamer, handloomed woollens for women, he turned again to his young son.

He was wearing knickerbockers. Now Irish lasses wear his knickerbockers for golf, cycling and motorcycling as well as beagling. And many American department stores are now stocking them as a bow-tie fashion.

STILL NOT SATISFIED

But he is not satisfied. He is candidly out to convert all culotte enthusiasts to his natty knickers. "Culottes are dishonest, don't you think? They're neither fish, nor fowl, nor red herring. Why, a skirt should be what it looks like. And pants ought very well and much more peaceably, with be pants."

There's a big difference between a job and a career. You know it as well as I do—especially if you're stuck in a job where the only way to advance is for someone to quit, die or retire. Unfortunate? Maybe... but it's the truth.

Some men will put up with a job like this for years, but you don't have to. Not as long as there are still career opportunities like this one with the State Farm Insurance Companies.

The man we want should be willing to accept responsibility. He should also be able to meet and get along with people. He will become a career insurance agent, serving clients by providing protection for their families, their homes, their businesses and their automobiles.

He will be given complete on-the-job training in a program which is considered one of the best in the insurance industry. It includes field work, study courses, as well as formal schooling. Through this program, men without any prior experience have become some of State Farm's most successful agents.

In fact, this is one of the very few career opportunities where the right man can be almost certain of success.

His income will depend entirely on his own efforts. After five or more years, average earnings of State Farm agents is nearly $11,000. However, there is absolutely no salary ceiling. Many of our top agents are in the high five figure income bracket.

He would be representing one of America's largest insurance organizations... specially tailored to serve the automobile, life and fire insurance needs of the vast family insurance market.

If you are looking for a career opportunity, in a growing industry, where your services are in constant demand, then write or use the coupon below to obtain complete details.

FILL IN, CLIP AND MAIL TO: William N. Luther, District Manager, State Farm Insurance Company, 1120 Roosevelt Avenue, York, Pa.

Please send me more information about the career opportunity which is available in my area. I understand I am under absolutely no obligation.

Long Range Planning Committee Foresees Greater Profits For County Farmers Soon

Adams County's farmers have an opportunity for greater profit from their farms—but they will have to take several steps to realize the potential, according to the report of the long range marketing planning committee of the Adams County Agricultural Extension Association.

The committee reported that 1,500,000 consumers of food products live within a hour's driving distance of Adams County and continued improvements are expected in roads, transportation facilities and marketing services. In addition income of the 1,500,000 is above the national average.

"The strategic geographical location of Adams County affords obvious advantages, provided our production and marketing costs are in line," the committee reported.

MARKETS EXPAND

Local markets are also expanding. "In 1964 Adams County had 84 eating places with sales of $2,700,000. In 1959 it had 100 such establishments with sales of $4,000,000."

Because of improved highways and increasing population roadside stands should prove increasingly valuable as a marketing method for Adams County food products, according to the committee.

The committee reported further: "Marketing is experiencing a revolution in Adams County. To many, perhaps this change is not noticeable; however, an increasingly smaller number of buyers are purchasing greater volumes of farm products. As the concentration of market power becomes centered in fewer hands, the raw product requirements become more exacting. Buyers prefer to purchase farm products in larger volume and of consistent quality in order to supply the steady demands of the food retailers over as long a time period as possible. Producers will find greater difficulties selling their commodities at any price unless these market requirements are met, or show signs of being met. Adams County agriculture generally is adopting this concept of bigness in order to compete with other growing areas."

There are operations in the county that could benefit by complete or partial integration. The extension service should explore such possibilities with producers, giving impartial advice as to the advantages and disadvantages of different methods of integration.

There are some good local marketing opportunities that should be explored by producers such as store-door delivery, roadside stands, "pick your own," etc.

The demand for agricultural commodities produced in this area must be strengthened by: a. The identification, promotion and advertising of local production using brand names wherever possible. b. An aggressive consumer information program. c. Improved diets.

CHOICE OF SYSTEMS

"Currently, most producers have a wide choice of marketing systems at their disposal, including: a wide choice of marketing; a direct farm-to-retail sales, co-operatives, individual brokers, and/or purchasing agents of corporations. Producers frequently select the system or combination of systems that benefits them in the short run and few plan beyond the current marketing year. Since markets are currently available to them, little thought is given to becoming well established and identified with a marketing system or systems for the future. Producers who consistently switch from one marketing system to another may eventually find themselves without any dependable outlet for their crop and, in the long run, the stability and growth of associated marketing firms and agencies is weakened."

Members of the committee were: Paul Pitzer, Biglerville; Roger Smith, York Springs; Richard Emerson, Littlestown; John Lott, Gettysburg; Mrs. William Lott, Gettysburg; Mervin Myers, Gettysburg.

Littlestown; Donald Horst, Biglerville, and John Pitzer, Aspers.

Among recommendations were the following: Producers should explore all aspects of legislative action as it pertains to marketing. This includes such things as legislation pertaining to grading requirements, marketing orders and agreements, bargaining associations, etc.

UPGRADE PRODUCTS

Producers and marketing agencies must upgrade agricultural products in order to maintain an advantageous position in the market place. This may involve such things as improved sizing, grading, inspection, handling, storing, packaging and processing.

More producers should thoroughly investigate the development of a system in which individual production can be pooled in order to supply the large volume buyer with a uniform quality product of sufficient quantity throughout the marketing period. Formal or informal cooperative action may be used. This system might require some form of sales agency. Other advantages that might be enjoyed by this type of system include quantity purchases of supplies, better sources of credit and cooperative use of equipment. This type of marketing system would be more advantageous with fruit, vegetable and poultry production, although it could be adapted for use with other commodities.

There are operations in the county that could benefit by complete or partial integration. The extension service should explore such possibilities with producers, giving impartial advice as to the advantages and disadvantages of different methods of integration.

GOOD OPPORTUNITIES

There are some good local marketing opportunities that should be explored by producers such as store-door delivery, roadside stands, "pick your own," etc.

The demand for agricultural commodities produced in this area must be strengthened by: a. The identification, promotion and advertising of local production using brand names wherever possible. b. An aggressive consumer information program. c. Improved diets.

The producer and processor must work more closely together to maintain a strong processing industry in this area. Each must be kept aware of problems facing the industry and adjust to meet these problems and the changing consumer demands. The entire industry must work towards upgrading the manufactured products and be interested in the development of new products.

Producers, as well as marketing agencies, should explore all possibilities to strengthen their bargaining position.

Guidance counselors, in school, should point out the excellent job opportunities available to young people, particularly with an agricultural background, in the field of marketing. Marketing agencies are in need of trained personnel to strengthen their organization.

The extension service should strengthen and maintain a strong educational program in marketing. With the assistance of the extension area marketing agent a vital and realistic program should be developed to include producers, marketing agencies, and consumers. More discretion is needed in the wording and use of crop reports in order to eliminate misinterpretations.

Additional efforts by the state and Federal Agricultural Marketing Service in the employment of qualified inspectors is needed for standardized grading of agricultural products.

CONFERENCE ON LAOS STALLED BY RED MOVES

By CARL HARTMAN

GENEVA (AP)—The international conference on Laos was still tightly deadlocked today with the United States and the Soviet Union sparring amid expressions from both that an agreement is desirable.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, returning to Geneva Thursday night for the first time since Premier Khrushchev met in Vienna with President Kennedy, quickly doused hopes that he brought instructions to move the Communist position toward the West.

"My pockets are empty," Gromyko told newsmen.

Gromyko told newsmen he had returned to Geneva to resume the conference and declared: "We still believe that if all parties are willing, it is possible to reach an agreement. I repeat, if all parties are willing."

DEFEND ACTIONS

The assumption was that he meant if all parties are willing to go along with the Communists. With the rebels holding the upper hand militarily, the Communist delegates at Geneva insist that cease-fire is effective and the conference should only discuss the political future of Laos.

The United States and Britain forced an indefinite suspension of the conference sessions Thursday after the pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels drove a holdout government garrison out of the mountain village of Padong, deep in Pathet Lao territory. The West called the attack on Padong a serious violation of the cease-fire.

WANT TRUCE POWER

The Western allies refuse to participate in further conference sessions until the Communists agree to strengthen the powers of the truce commission in Laos to enable it to check immediately on violations of the cease-fire. But President Kennedy reiterated that the U.S. delegation was not quitting the conference to return home.

Communist spokesmen in Geneva and Red propaganda organs took the line that the attack on Padong was justifiable as a clean-up operation to wipe out U.S.-supported "bandits and saboteurs" harassing the population in Pathet Lao territory.

Cuban Property In U. S. Is Seized

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban property in the United States was up for grabs today by Americans whose holdings in Cuba were confiscated by Fidel Castro. Circuit Judge Hal P. Dekle Thursday ruled that any Cuban property found in this country can be attached. He found in favor of Terry Kane, who contended that the Cubans confiscated $22,500 worth of farm equipment in his tractor agency.

Dekle's ruling skirts the so-called foreign assets doctrine under which the U.S. Supreme Court since 1897 has held that the courts of one country will not judge the acts of a foreign state within that country's own territory.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

The great Scottish writer, Thomas Carlyle struggled through doubt—"Is there no God, then; but at best an absentee God?"—until he realized that God, "lives and loves in me," and then could look "upon my fellow man; with an infinite love."

His faith allowed him to accept himself: "Wherein thou even now standest, here or nowhere is thy ideal: work it out therefrom . . . the ideal is in thyself, the impediment too . . . thy condition is but the stuff thou art to shape."

And to reverse work: "Produce! Were it but the pitifullest infinitesimal fraction of a Product, produce it, in God's name!"

Prisoner Will Get New Hearing

SALEM, Ill. (AP)—A former Pennsylvania man serving a 99-year term in the Illinois Penitentiary for murder will get a post-conviction hearing July 6.

The Illinois State Supreme Court Thursday ordered the hearing for Robert J. Baker, formerly of Wormleysburg, Pa., who had appealed his conviction on grounds he hadn't been permitted a sanity hearing.

Baker was convicted for the murder of Larry Kirk, a former Marine from Winslow, Ind., in 1956.

Eastern League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Who'd figure that the last-lace Lancaster Red Roses could hand the Eastern League leading Springfield Giants four straight defeats?

But that's just what they did and they were the first club to accomplish the feat this year.

And to go one better the Red Roses pulled off the upset at Springfield's Pynchon Park.

They wrapped up the series Thursday night with a 4-1 victory in a game shortened to six innings by rain.

Second-place Binghamton, meanwhile, trimmed Springfield's lead to 2 1/2 games by defeating Johnstown 9-2, Reading beat Williamsport 9-6 in 10 innings.

Official's Neglect Frightens Banker

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP)—A frantic woman bookkeeper for the Somerset Trust Co. telephoned police around closing time Thursday and said:

"The burglar alarm just went off. The bank's being robbed." State and city police converged on the bank, armed with rifles and shotguns.

They found no robbers. Seems a bank official was closing one of the vaults and forgot to turn off the alarm system.

REDS PLAN TO DEFY COURT ON REGISTRATION

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department today reserved comment on the announced intention of the American Communist party to defy the Supreme Court decision that it register as an organization controlled by the Soviet Union.

But individual officials left no doubt about the department's readiness to go to the legal mat again with the party and its members over compliance with the court ruling.

STUDY DECISION

Actually, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's aides are still engaged in an analysis of the somewhat complex Supreme Court actions of last Monday. They upheld the registration section of the 1950 Internal Security Act, and also the conviction of a party member on grounds he was an active member of an organization advocating violent overthrow of this government.

The department has carefully withheld any discussion of the implications of these inter-related rulings pending completion of a study of the diverse court opinions accompanying them.

Gus Hall, the U. S. party's general secretary, said Thursday it will not comply in any way with the registration decision, which took the federal government 10 years to obtain.

KENNEDY ACHE DUE TO SEVERE STRAIN ON BACK

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Perhaps the basic reason President Kennedy is suffering from a strained back is that "the good Lord made the back for quadrupeds and not for bipeds," a Washington bone and joint specialist said today.

He told a reporter that in the evolutionary process, through which man assumed an erect position and began walking on two legs, "everything was compensated for except the back."

"Too much strain has been placed on the human back for the position that man has assumed," declared the doctor, who asked to remain anonymous.

SUBJECT TO STRAIN

"The human spine," he said, "has an angle or curve to it that makes it susceptible to strain because of man's erect position. The vertebrae in quadrupeds are evenly balanced due to the way they carry their weight on four legs."

A "lumbosacral strain" such as Kennedy suffered can occur during such activities as golf, tennis, heavy lifting, and even gardening, the doctor said. And, he added, victims are not necessarily limited to occasional devotees of such exercise.

You've got to have "an even rhythm" of motion in any exercise to stand the best chance of avoiding back strain, he said. Any sudden twist of the body could well bring it on.

He said that in shoveling dirt—as Kennedy was doing for a tree planting ceremony in Ottawa when he suffered his injury—you should be sure to bend your knees somewhat so all the strain of lifting won't be on the lower part of the back.

Southern Lutherans Oppose Civil War Commemorations

NEW YORK — Celebration of the Civil War Centennial pay tribute to "a struggle that bled America white and created antagonisms that still live," a leading Lutheran clergyman from the South has declared in protest to the four-year commemoration. Instead of the prolonged series of activities recreating battles and events of the war, said Dr. Frank K. Efrid, pastor of St. John Lutheran Church of Salisbury, N. C., the nation should observe a "National Penitence Week for the Civil War."

Dr. Efrid, a prominent clergyman of the United Lutheran Church in America and a councilor of the National Lutheran Council, is well known for his opposition to racial bias. His views on the Civil War Centennial were expressed in the June issue of The National Lutheran, the NLC's monthly magazine.

"If there is anything we should learn from the Civil War, it is that all men are sinners, that basic problems between brothers are multiplied by war, and that we should look at the Civil War with penitence rather than pride," he asserted.

"PENITENCE WEEK"

"Therefore," he continued, "if we must have a centennial, instead of a four-year observance, I propose that we declare a 'National Penitence Week for the Civil War.' During it we should wear sackcloth and ashes, and we should pray. We should eliminate invocations of pride for the way brother killed brother."

Says Mail Increase Would Cut Deficit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Postmaster General J. Edward Day says a mail-rate increase could eliminate the postal service's $900-million annual deficit.

The former Los Angeles insurance executive, interviewed Thursday, proposed one-cent increases for first-class and air-mail postage and hikes on all other classes of mail.

"We are asking Congress for $741 million more a year," Day said. "A total of $430 million of this amount could be raised simply by increasing first class and air mail."

KENNEDY WINS BITTER FIGHT FOR HOUSING

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy wrapped up a smashing victory on the $6.14-billion housing bill in the Senate early today, but only after a bitter fight through a marathon 13½ hour session.

Final passage of the omnibus measure — one of the big five on the President's 1961 legislative list — was put over until Monday. But the Senate only quit at 1:35 a.m. after the bill had been advanced to a stage at which no further changes are possible.

Only on Monday there will be only talk and a seemingly assured vote to pass the bill and send it to the House.

Cooper Wills Estate To Widow, Others

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gary Cooper bequeathed the bulk of his estate, valued in excess of $1 million, to his widow Veronica. The actor also made provision for lifetime care for his mother.

The screen star died of cancer May 13. His will, filed for probate Thursday, made these other bequests:

Ten thousand dollars to the Motion Picture Relief Fund; $5,000 each to a brother, Arthur, of Indio, Calif., a nephew, Howard Cooper, and a niece, Georgia Burton of Marion, Ohio; and $1,000 to Our Lady of Gethsemane Abbey, Louisville, Ky.

In addition to his widow and mother, Cooper left a daughter, Maria, 23.

Will Not Oppose Dirksen In Race

CHICAGO (AP) — Charles H. Percy, industrialist and Republican leader, says he will not oppose Sen. Everett M. Dirksen in the Illinois Republican primary next spring.

Percy, chairman of the 1960 Republican Platform Committee, told a group of business leaders Thursday, "I do not want to cause any rupture within the party." Percy, 41, had been mentioned as a possible senatorial candidate.

Dirksen, who is 65 and is serving his second Senate term, has not officially announced his candidacy, but it is believed he will seek re-election. He served eight consecutive terms in the House of Representatives from 1933-1948. He did not seek re-election but was elected to the Senate in 1950.

Noting that some people in the South are saying, "We didn't win the war, but we are going to win the Centennial," he observed that, "somehow America survived the war, it remains to be seen whether we can survive four long years observing a Centennial."

Dr. Efrid compared the celebration of the Civil War Centennial to a family observance of "the 25th anniversary of one brother shooting and killing another over a political argument," and wondered how such an observance and "intensify the love of one brother's children for the children of the other?"

Especially he objected to the plan to re-enact battles of the Civil War, because this "can become a war," and because "no mock battle can ever show the blood and suffering of the real battle. Whatever glory there is will get the play, and whatever was gory will not be shown."

"Maybe those who want to commemorate (the war) should be come part of U.N. army in the Congo," Dr. Efrid suggested, for "how can we piously exorcise the Congolese for their Civil War when we observe the 100th anniversary of our own?"

Drop Racial Bars At Miami School

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Racial bars will be lowered for the first time at the University of Miami in the summer session starting June 15.

Dr. Paul K. Vonk, chairman of the Admissions Committee, said no records had been kept of the number of Negroes to be admitted.

"There was no quota, and we had no reason to count them," he said. "All applications are accepted or rejected on their merits."

40-YEAR MORTGAGES IN

In its original form, it sought to aid families in the $4,000 to $6,000 bracket by offering no-down-payment, 40-year mortgages to buy homes, and similar-term, low-interest rate loans to non-profit groups to build apartments.

Gore attacked 40-year mortgages as unsound and impractical. Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., floor manager for the bill, defended them as the key provision in the measure designed to aid "poor folks" through low monthly payments.

After much oratory and lots of jockeying in the cloakrooms, Sparkman finally devised a substitute which got the provision back into the bill by a 47 to 42 vote early today.

The only significant concession he made was to require a down payment on the housing. This could amount to $555 on a $15,000 home, the maximum price allowed.

Thirty Republicans and 19 Democrats voted for the Gore amendment; 41 Democrats and 3 Republicans opposed it.

Father Of Nine Kills Self With Dynamite

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — An unemployed father of nine children strapped dynamite around his waist and blew himself to bits Thursday night.

John H. Alston, a carpenter in his 60s, died in front of his trailer home. His wife and children were absent.

A neighbor, Al Nelson, said: "I heard something that sounded like a rifle shot. Then I saw smoke and went outside and it was a bloody mess."

Forecast

Extended forecasts for June 10 through June 14:

Eastern Pennsylvania, southeastern New York, and New Jersey—Temperatures are expected to average 2 to 6 degrees below normal, with greatest departures in the northern areas. Cooler Saturday, continued cool through period with little significant day to day variation. Precipitation will total 1/2 inch or more, occurring mainly as showers Sunday and Monday, greatest amount in the southern and eastern portions of district.

Middle Atlantic States—Temperatures will average near the seasonal normals. Warm weather will be followed by change to cooler about Sunday and cool during first of week. Rain amounts will average over 1/2 inch, occurring as showers and thundershowers over the weekend and again about the middle of the week.

STOCKS MIXED

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market erased a small early gain and displayed a mixed picture as trading slowed early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .10 at 251.30 with industrials off .10, rails up .20 and utilities up .30.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were fractional. A few specially situated issues did better but there were no runaway favorites.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII told Belgian newsmen today that Queen Fabiola is expecting a baby.

The Pope gave a special audience for newsmen who came here with the Queen and King Baudouin, who are paying a state visit to the Vatican. The Pope received the royal couple in a state audience Thursday.

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev and President Sukarno of Indonesia returned to Moscow today after a two-day visit to Leningrad.

OSLO (AP)—The last surviving discoverer of the South Pole, Olav Mjaaland, died Thursday night at his home in Morgedal, eastern Norway. He was 88.

17-YEAR PESTS RETURN HERE

Seventeen-year locusts have returned to Adams County, says Dr. Thomas Guyton, director of the Bureau of Plant Industry of the State Department of Agriculture, Harrisburg, and he urges county residents who see them to notify him at the above address.

Dr. Guyton said that locusts last appeared here in 1944. Brood 1 which was found by the Pilgrims in 1621, is scheduled to appear again this year. He indicated that brood 1 this year won't be as bad as brood 10 which will appear here in 1970.

Adams County Farm Agent Frank S. Zettle said he expects there will be a small infestation, but next year he expects considerably more. He said he took a trip through the upper part of the county this week but didn't see any signs of them yet. The cold weather has probably delayed their coming for a few weeks, he added.

Entomologists seem to think that real estate developments are wiping out the 17-year locusts. Zettle pointed out that farming and

There have been eight broods spotted in Pennsylvania, 1, 2, 5, 6, 7, 8, 10 and 14. Dr. Guyton asked that persons who write him indicate what township and the time the locusts were seen.

2 DROP FAIR TRADE PRICES

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two major oil refineries have stopped setting fair trade prices for their gasoline sold in Pennsylvania.

The American Oil Co. made its move Tuesday and said some of its retailers in eastern Pennsylvania already have dropped prices by as much as two cents a gallon. Sun Oil Co. followed suit today, citing adverse court decisions. Gulf, Atlantic and Texaco are continuing to operate under fair trade, but each said their position could change at any time.

None of the companies would predict a price-cutting war by dealers, but a Gulf spokesman noted that these wars were common place throughout Pennsylvania prior to 1959, when most of the companies began operating under the states Fair Trade Act. He said, "this (action of Sun and American Oil) could conceivably lead to other price wars."

Dandelions vanish, grass grows greener

Nothing can do more to turn a self-respecting lawn into a shambles than a bumper crop of dandelions like we're having right now.

BONUS® makes short work of these persistent pests. Knocks out other ugly weeds, too—like plantain, buckhorn.

At the same time, BONUS feeds grass a steady, protein-building diet. Result? Greener, thicker, stronger turf, unmarred by weeds.

Nice work for just half an hour. But that's all it takes to treat 5000 sq ft with double-duty BONUS and the precise Scott's Spreader. The time for BONUS is now!

BLONDIE

Will Dedicate Addition To Foursquare Gospel Church Sunday; Hold Open House

Dayhoff, mason. The Doxology will conclude the service.

The public is invited to attend the open house from two to four o'clock in the afternoon at which refreshments will be served.

Rev. Mrs. Myers will deliver the evening sermon entitled "Total Commitment" at 7:30 o'clock.

EVANGELISM, REVIVAL

The church, during this service, will be dedicated to "Evangelism and Revival." After congregational singing and special music, Rev. and Mrs. Myers will give a brief summary of their recent trip to the Holy Land, illustrated with slides. They will also outline the history of the church.

Rev. and Mrs. Myers graduated from "LIFE" College in Los Angeles in 1932 and served 18 months as pastors in the west. In 1934 they came to Pennsylvania and set a tent on a site near Fairfield where a service station stands now. In October of the same year, they rented a tabernacle on Fourth St.

Three years later they purchased the property at the present site and built a church. The parsonage was next door. The first Sunday School class was held in October, 1934, with 29 persons in attendance. Superintendent of the school was Elsie Shryock, who later graduated from "LIFE" and is now pastor of the Greencastle Church.

EIGHT SONS PREACH

Eight sons of the congregation have become preachers of the church. They are: Reuben Waddell, Lawson White, Jacob Warrenfeltz, Vernon Thompson, Elsie Shryock, Freda Kump, Clarence Thomas and Levin Beaver.

The membership totals approximately 600 members, with 400 being "active." Rev. Mr. Myers said there is a weekly attendance of 300 at the Christian Education Sunday School; 285 at the Sunday morning worship service; 200 at the Sunday evening service; 150 at the Wednesday service, and 45 to 50 at the Young People's Crusaders' service Saturday evening.

Since the congregation reached 200 several years ago, Rev. Myers said attendance has increased at about 10 per cent a year.

The first addition to the 1934 structure was built in 1950, when a 32 by 54 square foot area was added and a pastor's study. In 1953 a "babyland" was added to the north side and in 1955, a new parsonage was built on Howard St., opening the way for the present expansion.

STARTED LAST JUNE

The present renovations were started in June, 1960. The new addition makes possible nine departments with nine superintendents and one general superintendent. The church will accommodate at least 800 for the Christian education classes.

The church has a toddlers' department, primary, cadet, children, young people from 13 to 35 and adult sections. Miss Barbara Myers, a registered nurse and also a graduate of "LIFE," is in charge of the youth department of the church.

BABY CRY ROOM

The church has a "baby cry room," a "babyland" with cribs, bassinets and playpens; a main auditorium with a seating capacity of 500; a new Crusader chapel that seats 150 and may be combined with the main chapel by opening a huge folding door; the pulpit area; a pastor's study; superintendent of the Sunday School office; two rest rooms; the old Crusader chapel; the primary, cadet and intermediate areas, and room for a modern kitchen in the rear of the building.

When the basement is finished, there will be two more large auditoriums and several smaller ones. The furnace room is located in the basement and the entire building is air conditioned.

Members of the building committee were Martin Myers, Robert Fuss and Earl Sanderson. The church council consists of Wayne Cregger, Donald Becker and Richard Lockbaum.

Rev. Myers explained the naming of the Foursquare Gospel Church as follows:

"Jesus, The Saviour of Men; Jesus, The Healer of Soul and Body; Jesus, The Baptizer of the Holy Spirit, and Jesus, the Coming King. There are the four fundamentals of the doctrine of the Bible," he said.

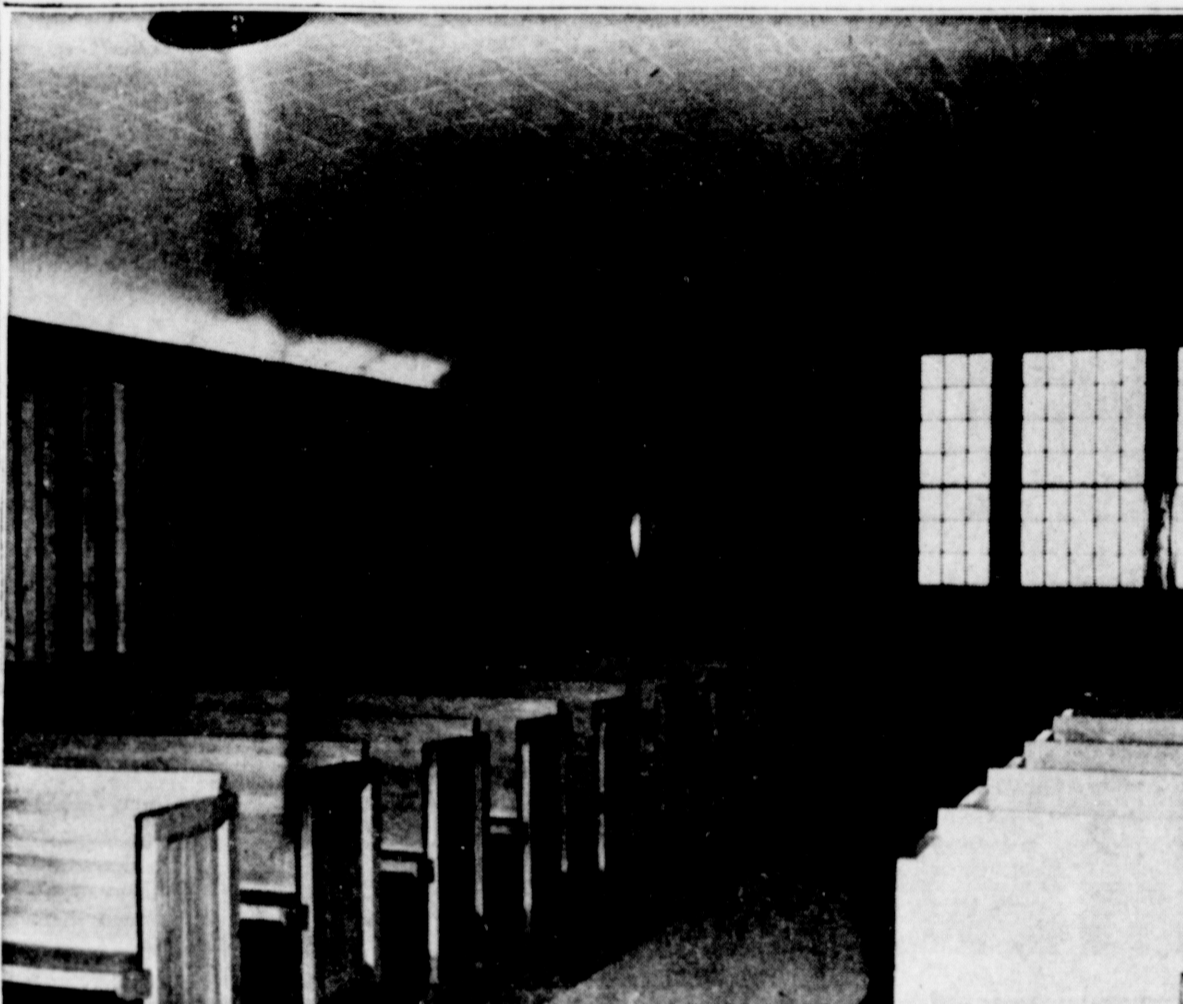

TAKES NO PART IN GOP ISSUE

Former President Eisenhower says he will not be involved in any way in the choice of a new chairman for the Republican Campaign Committee of the U.S. House of Representatives.

The former president added, however, in a statement from his office Thursday that "every person who has yet been mentioned in this connection is a personal friend of long standing in whom I have full confidence."

Eisenhower disclaimed taking a position as to whom the successor for Rep. William E. Miller, R-N.

"I am advised of a newspaper article," Eisenhower said, "which alleges that I have taken a position as to the successor for Congressman William Miller of New York. In such questions I have never attempted to influence decisions. The matter is none of my business and I shall not be involved in it in any way."

"I am sure that the House Republicans will decide this matter wisely, without an outside interference."

The lone victim was the pilot of the single-engine Piper Tri-pacer, identified from personal possessions as Arthur W. Nelson, 56, of Brattleboro, Vt., believed to have been an auto dealer. There were no other casualties.

The plane tore off branches of trees as it crashed to earth with an awful roar in the adjoining lawns of the homes of John L. Kreitzer and Edward H. Parks, shortly after 4 a.m.

FLEE IN PANIC

Fearing an explosion, the Kreitzer couple with their two children and Mr. and Mrs. Parks, with their six children, fled in panic.

Kreitzer spread an alarm in the neighborhood, and other residents also temporarily evacuated their homes. The plane did not burn. Dr. Edward A. Haegele, Cumberland County coroner, said the lone pilot apparently had died instantly of multiple injuries.

The cause of the accident was not known. The coroner said it appeared that the plane had nose-

PLANT HEAVY FOR SILAGE

The best corn for silage will generally be a hybrid that is one group later in maturity than the hybrid normally planted for grain, report Walter I. Thomas and George W. Grosline, corn breeders for the agricultural experiment station at the Pennsylvania State University.

Dr. Thomas says this means that late season, grain-type hybrids will do best for silage and produce the most feeding values. Hybrids have been tested at various populations and under varied Pennsylvania conditions by John B. Washko and John W. Bratzler, researchers in agronomy and animal nutrition at Penn State.

SAYS U. S. WILL FIGHT TO FREE ASIAN LANDS

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said today the United States will not surrender the free people of Asia to communism "without putting up a fight."

He said it was his judgment that "freedom in Asia is worth fighting for" and that the American people, once they understand the tremendous stakes, "are ready to follow the path that means freedom—not just for Asians, but for ourselves as well."

In an address prepared for delivery before a conference of United Press International editors, the vice president declared:

"OUR OBLIGATION"

"The front line of freedom lies today in nations like Viet Nam, Thailand and Pakistan. It is our obligation to ourselves and to our descendants to so conduct ourselves that those lines will not be breached or pushed back."

Communism, the vice president declared, "is not riding a tide of inevitability in Asia," and "it can be stopped in its tracks."

"Simple arithmetic and common horse sense dictate that we take the necessary steps to maintain the freedom of nations that have not fallen under the Communist yoke," Johnson said. He added:

"WON'T DO IT"

"The Communists are hoping we will surrender these people without putting up a fight. And I am here today to tell you—as I told the leaders of the countries that I visited—that we are not going to do it."

"We are not going to pull back

Their studies show that corn grown for silage will do best when seeded at rates of 2,000 to 6,000 more plants per acre than corn planted for grain under the same soil conditions. In central Pennsylvania this means stands of 20,000 to 25,000 plants per acre.

Lodging or stalk breakage can be a problem when silage corn is seeded much beyond the 2,000 to 6,000 additional plants per acre.

Tests indicate that the hard dough stage is the best time for cutting silage. Harvested earlier than hard dough, silage corn has too much moisture for best storage and feeding value. Later than hard dough, it is too dry for successful storage.

Dr. Bratzler has found that high sugar corn is no better in central Pennsylvania than adapted, recommended hybrids.

to Honolulu and San Francisco to await the inevitable Communist assault that would follow such a tremendous victory. These are not idle words."

The vice president said the Asian countries have "the will, the manpower, and the resources to make their resistance effective" and all they need "is an equal determination on our part, plus some help and advice."

NEW YORK (AP)—A cook for Bogdan Lewandowski, Poland's permanent representative to the United Nations, has defected and asked for political asylum in the United States.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Felix F. Burant, president of the anti-Communist Polish-American Immigration and Relief Committee, identified her as Miss Aniela Wojtowicz, 37. He said she made her decision May 28 after being told she must return to Poland on a freighter leaving that day.

At the school's 100th commencement, which was held Sunday, she received two awards, the Betty Bingay English which she attained for her power of expression and creative ability. This is the highest English award given by the school. Her prize was a volume of "Poems and Plays of T. S. Elliott." She also received the Eleanor Meador Voice award, for excelling in voice effort, improvement and achievement. Her prize was an album of Puccini Arias. During her two years at Grier she was a member of the Glee Club, the Triple Trio, a cheer leader, on the staff of the Scribe, and was accepted for membership in the National Honor Society. Prize Winning Essay On "Why I Believe In U.S."

The essay, "Why I Believe in America," written by Miss Jane Roth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Henry Roth, 220 S. Stratton St., has won first prize in the state-wide essay contest conducted by the Auxiliary of the Pennsylvania Department of the American Legion.

Miss Roth, who was graduated from Delone High School this week, will go to the state Legion convention at Erie to read her prize winning essay.

The essay follows:

Believe in America? Of course

I do! Because saying I believe in America is saying I believe in freedom. Freedom, especially that of religion, of press, and of person has guided our country from its first days. Our forefathers believed in freedom. The proof is in the Declaration of Independence. It is in the Constitution, the great charter of our country, which contains the Bill of Rights, the document that preserves our freedom for all time.

Believe in America? Of course I do! Because believing in America is believing in a government that is, in Lincoln's words, "of the people, by the people, and for the people." A government that is dedicated to serve the common good. A government of the principles of eternal justice, the unchanging law of God. A government based on the moral law.

Believe in America? Of course I do! Because it is believing in opportunity. Opportunity of which Bulwer said, "The public needs but one patron, and that is the lucky moment." Opportunity, which is the chance to be what one wants, to succeed in life, and be the person one desires to be, comes to all sooner or later in America.

Believe in America? Of course I do! Because to believe in America is to believe in hope — hope, which is the last thing that dies in man. It is necessary to hope for hope is happiness and its frustrations are better than its extinction. Hope of a good life, in which we have our comforts and leisure to do with as we please, in which we are able to do the job we like, to believe in the religion of our choice, and to hope for a better life for our loved ones, gives happiness to even the poorest person. Hazlitt said, "Hope is the best possession — none are completely wretched but those who are without hope, and few are reduced so low as that."

Believe in America? Of course I do! Because it is believing in knowledge and goodness; knowledge which is strength, and goodness which is greatness. Knowledge which, when given freely to the people, bestows on them the power to rule themselves in a proper way — the best possible way. Goodness which, when given freely to a people, helps them to give of themselves for the greatness of the common good.

Believe in America? Of course I do! Because it is believing in security. Security in a life which gives us all we need. Security from all that can harm us. Security for ourselves and our posterity. Security on which we base our respect for America. Security which is guaranteed in our Declaration of Independence and our Constitution.

Believe in America? Of course I do! Because not to believe in America would be not to believe in anything good that exists. Belief in America is the basis of our life, of our society. It is the reason our forefathers strove so hard to get this country and the reason why we must strive to keep it for posterity. Finally I believe in America because America believes in God.

White Assemblyman, Negro Companion Jailed As 'Riders'

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A white New York state assemblyman and a Negro companion were arrested Thursday when they tried to desegregate facilities at the Jackson Municipal Airport.

Meanwhile, a racially-mixed group of nine "Freedom Riders" was enroute from New Orleans to again test "Jim Crow" barriers in the railroad terminal here.

The New York lawmaker, Mark Lane, 33, of Manhattan, and Percy Sutton, 40, president of a New York City branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, were arrested almost immediately after they stepped off a Delta Airlines plane from Montgomery, Ala.

Sutton protested: "I'm a traveler in interstate commerce."

REFUSE TO LEAVE

Police Capt. J. L. Ray ordered the two to leave the white men's waiting room. When they refused, he placed them under arrest.

Lane and Sutton had previously said they were curious travelers. Wednesday they were served without incident in a Montgomery bus terminal restaurant.

Their arrests brought the number jailed in integration attempts to 83. The two New Yorkers were charged with breach of peace — the same as the early integrationists.

The New Orleans group, which included two white women, boarded the crack passenger train "City of New Orleans" under the watchful eyes of uniformed city police officers and city and state policemen in plainclothes.

EXPECTED JAIL

A spokesman for the New Orleans group, the Rev. Robert Wesley, 33, a Negro Baptist minister from Aurora, Ill., said he expected to be jailed.

"Paul and Silas were placed in prison for supporting what they believed," said the minister. "I feel that we can ask no more than to be jailed in Mississippi for a purpose."

Nine riders were jailed at Jackson Wednesday following unsuccessful attempts to desegregate terminal facilities at an airport and a bus station.

Five Properties Are Transferred

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Rinehart, Hamilton Twp., sold a property in that township for $400 to Donald I. and Anna B. Rinehart, Hamilton Twp.

Earl Chrismer, Mt. Pleasant Twp., sold a property in that township for $3,700 to Mr. and Mrs. David G. Toomey, Mt. Pleasant Twp.

Isaac D. Keefer, Germany Twp., sold a property in that township for $6,000 to Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Keefer, Littlestown. William R. Sunday, executor of the estate of Lillian S. Shryock, Germany Twp., sold a property in Germany Twp. for $640 to Mr. and Mrs. James W. Dutera, Fairfield R. I.

Edna M. Kuhn, Casstown, sold a property in Franklin Twp. for $700 to Mr. and Mrs. Melvin C. Herring, Franklin Twp. The Herring sold another property in Franklin Twp. for $700 to Edna Kuhn.

NEGROES TAKE GIRL FROM CAR; SLASH FRIEND

ANDERSON, S.C. (AP)—An 18-year-old girl who was reported abducted from a parked car near here Wednesday night was found today. The Anderson County sheriff's office said the girl was taken to a hospital in a state of shock.

No other details were available immediately.

Charles Gambrell, 20, of near Anderson, told authorities the girl was dragged from their parked car by two and perhaps three Negro men and put into another car. Gambrell was slashed about the abdomen and left arm.

FLEE TO MINSTER

Deputy Sheriff Jim Williams said Gambrell, nearly incoherent, ran to the home of the Rev. Fred L. Bremner, a Presbyterian minister, shortly after 11 p.m. He was bleeding, the minister reported, and said he had been cut by the assailants and the girl was spirited away.

A: Anderson County Memorial Hospital Gambrell was treated in the emergency room for lacerations of the abdomen and left arm and then was released.

A sheriff's office spokesman said the boy and girl were parked on a dirt road five or six miles north of the Anderson city limits. Anderson County, in western South Carolina, borders partly on Georgia.

PFA Opposes U. S. Aid To Education

The Pennsylvania Farmers' Association is making an all out effort to defeat a costly federal aid for education bill that is expected to be on the floor of the House in Washington this week. This bill provides funds for construction of school buildings and teachers' salaries. The greatest danger with the appropriation of federal money for teachers' salaries is that eventually federal control will take over our education system, according to John Pitzer, president of the Adams County Farmers' Association.

"PFA members are definitely in opposition to federal aid for education. We are providing new classrooms at a rate sufficient to meet the increased enrollment, replace old schools, and wipe out the shortage of classrooms. Pennsylvania has more than kept up with school building programs. In fact, the Superintendent of Public Instruction for Pennsylvania has stated that the school building program in Pennsylvania is in good condition and, if federal aid comes, the money will be primarily used for teachers' salaries.

Johnson Called Ice Cream Man Of Kennedy's Regime

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson has become the ice-cream man of the Kennedy administration.

He travels into all kinds of neighborhoods, spreading good cheer.

Busy, busy, busy. That was his life until he became vice president last January.

He wanted to be busy. He wanted to run things. And, as boss of the Senate Democrats, Johnson had a job made to order for him.

He stayed busy for years running the Senate. Then, suddenly, when he became vice president, he had to take a back seat.

He had a boss now, Kennedy, who was younger, and strong-willed, and had beaten him for the presidency. And Kennedy left no doubt who was No. 1 man.

NEW SENATE BOSS

And even in the Senate there was a new boss: Mike Mansfield of Montana, majority leader of the Democrats.

Johnson couldn't, if he wanted to, push Mansfield around, or interfere, or kibitz, without an explosion.

Yet Johnson, full of fierce energy, was like a lot of politicians—full of ego.

How to make the best use of him? This was a problem for Kennedy. What would you have done if you were Kennedy? Probably what he did. It was a natural.

He found a way to keep Johnson happy while making use of him. He kept him busy.

HITS FAST PACE
Although Johnson had a severe heart attack in 1955, just a few weeks before President Eisenhower had his, he's been hitting a startling pace for months.

He hit it during the presidential race, campaigning hard. And right after the election he lit out for Europe and a NATO conference.

Then there was a lull, right after Kennedy and Johnson took office Jan. 20, when the vice president, with nothing much to do, seemed in total eclipse.

It didn't last long. Kennedy sent him on a 13,000-mile tour of Africa and Europe as a goodwill spreader.

29,000-MILE TOUR
In May he sent him on a 29,000-mile journey through Southeast Asia and the Middle East to spread more of the same.

And, since his return toward the end of May, Johnson has been in a dizzy spin of speechmaking and reporting on his latest trip abroad.

For example: On the day he returned, May 24, he reported to Kennedy and then held a news conference for some public reporting.

That night he made a speech to the National Committee for Children and Youth. The next day he provided a fill-in for Kennedy's cabinet and, later the same day, for 57 senators.

BOUGHT 82 SHIRTS
At a big news conference May 26 he revealed that in Hong Kong he bought 82 shirts (4 apiece) for those who traveled to Asia with him.

On June 3 an aide denied Johnson had just bought a house here for $265,000 and said the cost was under $200,000.

On June 5 Johnson gave the House Foreign Affairs Committee such a hearty report on his trip that members called it thrilling, brilliant, wonderful.

One member even called him "the wonder boy of the age."

Meanwhile, he addressed the graduating class at his alma mater, Southeast Texas State College; the senior class at Eastern Kentucky State College; and the graduating class at Gallaudet, the world's only college for the deaf.

ADDED CADETS
On June 6 Johnson reportedly wowed the advertising council with the same meet-the-folks technique he had used in Asia.

And Wednesday he gave the West Point graduating class a pep talk.

Whether or not Johnson accomplished anything on his journeys abroad remains to be seen. But if Kennedy was looking for a salesman, he found him.

Michigan State has had at least one representative on every United States Olympic team since 1928.

START PROBE OF TRUJILLO 'OPPRESSION'

By E. L. ALMEN

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—A commission from the Organization of American States began investigating Thursday to see if Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo's heirs are making good on their promise to end oppression.

President Joaquin Balaguer, the slain dictator's hand-picked chief executive, named Leland Rosenberg as the Dominican Republic's liaison man with the OAS mission.

Rosenberg talked at length Wednesday night with one of the OAS team, Carlos A. Clulow of Uruguay. The two had been in Bonn together until 1958 as their governments' ambassadors to West Germany.

NO TIME LIMIT
Rosenberg was optimistic later, saying: "We will develop a few things, they will develop a few things and then matters will materialize."

Augusto Arango, Panamanian ambassador in Washington and head of the 13 OAS investigators, said there was no time limit and he did not know when the investigation would be finished. His group is from Panama, Colombia, Uruguay and the United States.

The investigators will determine whether OAS sanctions imposed last summer—economic boycotts and breaks in diplomatic relations—are still justified. The Dominican government insists they are not.

Since Trujillo's assassination May 30 after 31 years of rule, Balaguer and Gen. Rafael L. Trujillo Jr., made armed forces chief upon his father's death, have been busy trying to convince the rest of the Western Hemisphere that the Dominican Republic is now worthy of restored fellowship in the American community.

LOSSES COLONELCY
A government spokesman reported today that the once powerful and dreaded chief of military intelligence, John Abbes Garcia, left the country Wednesday after his army lieutenant colonelcy had been taken from him. Garcia was removed as intelligence chief some time ago. His destination was not disclosed.

The government also freed the first prisoner under a new political amnesty plan. Sources said

CAMP DEATHS NOT RECORDED SAYS WITNESS

By THOMAS A. REEDY

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP)—A woman survivor of the Auschwitz death camp testified Thursday at the Adolf Eichmann trial that persons gassed or shot were not recorded—or their files were destroyed—so that camp registry books showed only disease as a cause of death.

"According to the files, nobody was killed in Auschwitz — not one," said Raya Kagan, who worked in the camp as a clerk and now is an official in the Israeli foreign ministry.

The Lithuanian-born woman told the trial court she was sent to Auschwitz as a young girl from France, where she had been studying. She said in Auschwitz she was chosen "haphazardly" as a clerk because she could speak German. She said she and a few other Jewish women worked in the camp administration office which registered the deaths and the live prisoners of Auschwitz.

CAMOUFLAGE CERTIFICATES
Mrs. Kagan said there were forms even for punishment of inmates, listing how many whiplashes were given to a prisoner or how much time he spent in a tiny arrest cell in which he could only stand.

"We received certificates of death," she continued, "and in a short time it became clear to us that this was a camouflage. We had to record in the forms all that once their legal papers have been signed, others would follow Jose Bosch Hermann out of prison. He is the brother of Juan Bosch, a well known opposition leader now living outside the country.

Find Two Bodies In Car Wreckage

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Bodies of two Williamsport men were found Thursday in the wreckage of their automobile in Wildwood Cemetery.

Police said the car apparently had been traveling at high speed on a dirt road which leads off Wildwood boulevard into the cemetery. They said the car literally had been cut in half when it hit a tree.

The victims were tentatively identified as George L. Weidner and Ernest T. Dieffenbach, 31, both of Williamsport. The wreckage was discovered by a passerby taking a short cut through the cemetery to work. Police said the accident apparently had occurred during the night.

Don Norbury of the University of Pennsylvania golf team won 40 of his 43 varsity matches in the last three years.

sorts of diseases as cause of death such as pneumonia, general weakness, syphilis and so on."

She said the files also recorded "the number of gold teeth, artificial teeth, anything of value."

Mass Kagan said she did not recall a single case of a Jew being fed from Auschwitz by the Nazis.

DEVELOP NEW LIFT DEVICE

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A practical, working rocket belt, torn from the pages of science-fiction, has made a reality of mankind's age-old dream of flying with the birds.

A twist of a throttle, a turn of a lever, and man leaps from the ground, his own personal rocket belt strapped to his back. He hovers in the air, he flies over rivers, he flits up a hill that would leave him breathless to climb.

His support is a twin-nozzle thrust of hydrogen peroxide steam.

All this was revealed today by Bell Aerosystems Co., which developed the belt—called a Small Rocket Lift Device—for the Army Transportation Research Command.

Photos of a test engineer, Harold M. Graham, in personal flight with the man-rocket showed him easily leaping a fire truck, handily swirling up a hill, casually jumping a stream.

In 30 successful test flights this spring, Bell said, Graham achieved a speed of about 20 miles an hour. His longest horizontal flight was 360 feet. He did not try for any great altitude, but the belt carried him up a steep, 30-foot-high hill with ease.

Says Handicapped Persons Can Produce Well On Job

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
NEW YORK (AP) — How not to get along with Joan Leonard is to call her "little lady." (She is not quite five feet high.)

Or write about her occasional stunts at golf or hockey as if recreation is unusual for a person born with deformities.

Nor would she be pleased if you tagged her handicapped, because she obviously is not, despite arms that end abruptly beyond her elbows.

This pleasant, forthright woman who directs the Queens office here for Just One Break, Inc. (a nonprofit placement service for the physically impaired), is not supersensitive. But she is battling labels in what she calls an age of them.

WISE PARENTS

Since her birth 24 years ago Miss Leonard's wise parents have expected as much from her as any other child. As a result she never thought of herself as different, never expected others to. And they don't, so nimble is she with those stubby forearms.

"After we begin talking you forget all about it, don't you?" she asks, replacing her coffee cup and grazing directly at you with wide hazel eyes.

"Not much difference" is an attitude Miss Leonard would like to instill in many more potential employers of so-called handicapped. As long as they are properly placed, according to their interests, skills and physical limitations, they can do the job "maybe not any better, but certainly not any worse than anyone else."

LOSE SKILLED PERSONNEL

The personnel director says bosses who can't provide equal opportunities for advancement lose some highly skilled personnel. Recently Miss Leonard found a better job for a crippled, talented young secretary bypassed in promotions because her unimaginative employer could not find more profitable uses for her abilities.

That there is no difference at all in how much it costs handicapped persons to live is another point Miss Leonard patiently explains to occasional businessmen who would exploit them as cheap labor.

"But this kind of person is rare," she emphasizes. "Most people deal with us in terms of X amount of dollars for value received."

NOT ALL LOOK PART

Not all the job seekers she counsels look disabled. Among those who do not wear the visual labels of braces or crutches are asthmatics, epileptics, diabetics and heart patients. But they require careful placement also.

Formerly with a publishing house the ever-pleasant young woman was placed in her present helpful position because of her abilities displayed on New York state employment service occupational tests, not her disabilities.

Even so, she quickly admits that she easily establishes rapport with her applications because they know very well she understands their problems.

As for employees, a brief talk with Miss Leonard has them forgetting all about any label that she or any other handicapped person is different.

W. Virginia Votes to Stay Loyal to Union

Gen. McClellan Takes Command Of 18,000 Men

WHEELING, W. Va., June 11—Delegates from the hilly western counties of Virginia voted in convention today to break away from their parent government in Richmond.

Richmond leaders are in the process of seceding from the Union.

Washington will be asked at once to recognize Western Virginia as a separate, loyal state, said the convention leaders.

THE DECISION came as an intense Union army officer, Maj. Gen. George Brinton McClellan, assumed command of the 18,000 federal troops in the western section of the state.

McClellan, 34, moved into his new post from that of commanding officer of the army's department of the Ohio.

Despite his youth, he brings extensive military and civilian experience to his new role, a key one in the Union's war program. McClellan entered the U. S. Military Academy at West Point at the age of 15, through a suspension of the rules and graduated second in the 1846 class of 59 men.

He saw action in the Mexican War.

Jefferson Davis, then secretary of war and now commander-in-chief of the Southern forces McClellan is fighting, sent the young officer to Crimea as an observer during the war there.

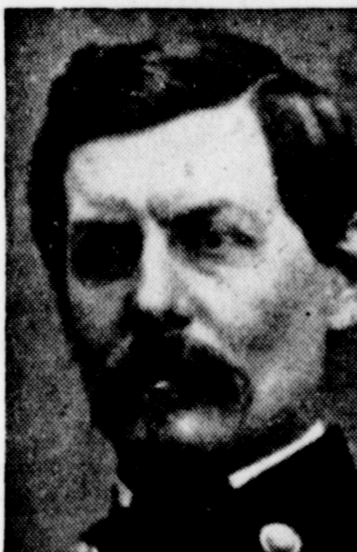

He later designed the army saddle that bears his name.

McClellan resigned from the army in 1857 to become chief engineer and later vice president of the Illinois Central Railway.

He was president of the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad, a $10,000 a year post, when he rejoined the army last year.

He is married to the former Ellen Marcy, daughter of Col. Randolph B. Marcy, a regular army officer.

On June 3 troops in McClellan's new command routed Confederate forces at Phillippi, Va., to score the first decided victory of the war. About 15 rebels were lost.

INDIANA ZOUAVES

Lew Wallace Leads Drive, Wins Romney

Hike 23 Miles Over Mountains

ROMNEY, Va., June 13—The 11th Indiana Zouaves under command of Col. Lew Wallace today sent a Confederate force estimated at 500 men fleeing from this tiny community.

Wallace's eight companies hit the town about 8 a.m. after a wearing 23-mile trek across mountains. They engaged the enemy forces at the approach to a bridge over the south branch of the Potomac.

Aides of Wallace reported his infantrymen crossed the bridge in the face of a two-gun battery, captured a big brick house with the loss of a sergeant, and drove the enemy from the scene.

THE RETREATING troops were reported to have mingled with women and children from the town as they fled into the mountains.

Wallace's troops searched several buildings for arms, then returned to their base of operations, Cumberland, without prisoners.

France Bows Out

PARIS, June 10—Napoleon III today proclaimed France neutral in the War Between the States in North America.

ARMY SHOWS ITS NEW TOOLS

PT. EUSTIS, Va. (AP) — The Army Thursday put on display some of the spectacular transportation tools and techniques it would use in guerrilla warfare.

The spotlight played on: Hooking a rocket to the back of a man so he can be shot limited distances. There have been more than 30 tests of this still experimental device.

A "marsh buggy" for moving men and supplies through swamp too thick for boats and too thin for vehicles or foot travel.

A "helicycle," a miniature helicopter to carry a soldier over enemy-held strips of land or across impassable terrain.

They are part of the Transportation Corps' "operation mobility" program. Its object: To show the corps' capability in both limited and full-scale battlefield action.

By coincidence, today's demonstration came two days after President Kennedy, in a nationwide radio-television talk, again emphasized the priority Communists give to waging "sub-limited" warfare. That is the planned conquest of a country through guerrillas or insurgents.

Former jockey Johnny Gilbert now owns and trains thoroughbreds.

WALLACE

Jobs Scarce For Uneducated Youth

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy warns that there will be fewer and fewer jobs in the next 10 years for young people who are poorly educated and maladjusted.

He called for efforts to guide the nation's youth toward good educations, skills and good citizenship.

Kennedy spoke Wednesday at fund raising dinner for Big Brothers of the National Capital Area, Inc. Under the Big Brother movement—which operates in the United States and Canada—boys from fatherless homes are given guidance and friendship of men of good character.

TRACTOR DEAL IS STYMIED BY CASTRO TERMS

By ED HARDY

DETROIT (AP)—The Tractors for Freedom Committee Replies today to the terms under which Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro would trade 1,200 men for 500 machines despite a congressional leader's warning that it "will be getting on tenuous ground" if it attempts to negotiate with Castro.

Walter P. Reuther, committee co-chairman and president of the United Auto Workers Union, said Wednesday the committee expected to have a reply ready to a cable from Castro in which the Cuban leader outlined his terms for the proposed tractors for prisoners trade. Reuther said no reply was made Wednesday because it was physically impossible to get the committee together.

OPEN FOR NEGOTIATIONS

Reuther said the committee felt Castro's terms "leave the way open for negotiations."

The committee was formed after Castro made an offer May 17 to trade prisoners captured in the ill-fated April invasion of Cuba for tractors.

Reuther said no decision had been made as to whether the committee would send a delegation to Cuba for a personal meeting as Castro specified in his message but observed later that it was doubtful he or any of the other leading committee members would travel to Havana for such a discussion.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said at Washington Wednesday night the committee members "will be getting on tenuous ground" if they go to Havana to discuss the deal.

WANTS MRS. ROOSEVELT

Castro had said "the raising and negotiation of this problem cannot be made only by cable, and it is better that a delegation should be sent to Cuba. In this there should be one of the principal members of the committee, preferably Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt or Milton Eisenhower, whose names, because they are better known in the political spheres, would contribute to the solution of the matter."

Dirksen said that if the persons concerned accepted the Castro invitation they might run afoul of the Logan Act. The act bars individuals from dealing with foreign governments under specified circumstances. Kennedy administration officials contend the act is not involved in the tractor matter.

SAYS WINDOW SHOPPING MAY BE GOOD HOBBY

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Are you looking for a new hobby? Why not take up window shopping?

It is the most inexpensive hobby in the world. All you need to enjoy it are a pair of legs and a city to walk in. As the forest is a great window to the wonderful world of nature, so is the city a great window to the marvelous and intricate world of man.

A walk in the woods calms and soothes the human spirit, but a stroll through the city ignites and bestirs the human mind. It awakens in one a recognition of the tremendous complexity of civilization.

Look in the store windows of a single business block in any city of America and you can find displayed more gimcracks, tomfoolery and treasure than ever a pirate looted from a galleon sailing the tumbled Spanish Main.

MANY WAYS TO PLAY

Some people window shop purely to find what they want. The real sport of window shopping, however, consists in gazing at things that other people may feel they need but you don't want and really wouldn't know what to do with if they came as a gift.

There are many ways to play the game of window shopping, but it is probably best played alone. No two people, however matched in taste, like to stand and stare for the same length of time at the same window.

You make up your own rules as you go along. One way is to start out with a mythical bankroll and see how long it takes you to spend it by mentally buying the gadgets in the windows.

There was a time when you could start out, say with a non-existent $100,000, and you'd have to walk two miles before you spent it.

SOON STONE BROKE

Not any more. Today even a thrifty and bargain-seeking window shopper can set out with a million-dollar grubstake in his head and find it all gone in a block and a half in mid-Manhattan.

You buy a sports car here, a fur coat there, pause to purchase a yacht, a painting by Gezanne, and a diamond necklace or so, and long before your legs are weary you find yourself stone broke.

All you really need to enjoy the great sport of window shopping, wherever you walk, is an inquiring mind. You come back from such a jaunt healthier in body, richer in mind, and no poorer at all in pocketbook.

One of the nicest things about window shopping is that when you buy a yacht you don't have to pay the crew to staff it or pay the bills to store it in the winter. You merely sail it across serene seas in the eternal summer in your head.

at the suggestion of President Kennedy. But the President also has said the U. S. government would take no part in any exchange, and Reuther has emphasized that Castro's cable has not been discussed with the President.

East Germany To Interfere In Protestant Church Rally

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD
BERLIN (AP) — The struggle between the Protestant church and the Communist regime of East Germany will reach a new peak in July.

The church has scheduled its annual mass rally in divided Berlin for July 19-23 and the Communists are doing their utmost to wreck it.

Half a million of the church's 40 million members throughout Germany attended the rally, known as the Kirchentag, in Munich last year. An equally large turnout could be expected next month.

WILL INTERFERE

But the Communists have made it plain they will do all they can to prevent East German members getting to Berlin.

They may also interfere with free travel to surrounded Berlin by barring church leaders from West Germany coming by road or rail. They have done this before when meetings of which they disapproved were held in the divided city.

The struggle is over the unity of the Evangelical church.

Groups of member churches are federated in one body which straddles the iron curtain. The biggest group, the Church of the Union, which formerly covered the area of Prussia, now stretches from the Oder River in the Communist East to the Rhine in the free West.

WANTS SEPARATE CHURCH

The Communist regime doesn't like this. It wants for East Germany a separate church leadership. So it is campaigning to split the church in two by obstructing unified meetings of members from East and West.

To justify their opposition the Communists have slapped a political label on the rally.

They claimed East Germans were being lured to West Berlin to become pawns in the cold war. They called the organizers "militarists and revenge seekers," claiming the Kirchentag was under the patronage of North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

So far the Communists have confiscated church papers announcing the date of the Kirchentag, vetoed meetings in East Berlin and warned East Germans not to try to get to West Berlin to take part.

Whom God Hath Joined TOGETHER...

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Genesis	22	1-18
Monday	Ephesians	6	1-4
Tuesday	I Chronicles	16	23-29
Wednesday	Psalms	95	1-6
Thursday	John	4	19-24
Friday	Psalms	66	13-20
Saturday	I Timothy	3	1-5

. . . let not man put asunder.

Before the Altar of Christ they took their vows. And now God has placed another hand in theirs; a small hand, needing tenderness and guiding love.

Before the Altar of Christ they come with their child, and according to the baptismal beliefs of their church dedicate his life to God.

Before the Altar of Christ they worship each Sunday, and eagerly help their growing son to master the Truths that will undergird his life.

Of course, there are times when the responsibilities of marriage and parenthood test their patience, and understanding, and courage to sacrifice.

But they have learned long since to conquer their selfishness and surrender their pride where they receive forgiveness, strength and ever-deepening love—before the Altar of Christ.

BARBER SHOP IN ARGENTINA HAS LOW RATES

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — An American visits an Argentine barber shop with a feeling of relief—in his pocketbook.

Tonsorial service in the best shop in Buenos Aires not only is performed by experts in immaculate facilities, it's cheap, too, by American standards.

A haircut itself costs 36 cents.

The majority of Argentine men prefer their locks bushy with little scissor activity above the ears. Sideburns and heavy applications of pomade are still in vogue.

A foreigner does best to ask for a "media-Americana." He'll then get a short cut, something between a local trim and a crew cut. Some American teen-agers have even managed to get "flat-tops."

Prices for other services are cheap, too.

A shave costs 34 cents; hot towels 10 cents extra. A shampoo is 15 cents; an hour-long manicure, 48 cents, and the shoe shine boy charges only a nickel.

The best buy is the 48-cent facial massage.

REAL WORKOVER

First, the barber applies hot towels; then works over the face with tweezers and cotton. Next, a mud pack, followed by a hot towel, then an ice cold one.

After shave lotion is then massaged into the skin and a vibrator, a relaxing machine, is applied profusely, not only over the face but the neck and shoulders as well.

A little more after shave, a touch of talcum, the production is finished. And a 15-cent tip will have the barber beaming with pleasure.

There is a drawback to Argentine barber shops though.

You have to bring your own magazines.

John Galbreath's Safe Swap was named after Swaps. He is a two-year-old dark bay colt.

File Damage Suit In Auto Accident

An action in trespass has been filed in the prothonotary's office by Attorney S. M. Raffensperger for John C. Bigham and his parents, Amos C. and Hazel Bigham, Fairfield R. 1, against Jack C. Orner, Fairfield R. 1. The suit results from an auto accident last August 18 at 4:30 p.m. on the Iron Springs Rd. The complaint alleges Orner crossed over the center line on a curve causing 19-year-old John Bigham to swerve his car off the highway to avoid a collision. Bigham's car upset causing $1,112 damage to the vehicle owned by his parents, and injuring Bigham. Hospital bills were listed as $134.15, physicians' bill $18 and loss of work $20.
